Artrain is in Romulus

Artrain, a five-car train which contains Michigan art exhibits, will be in Romulus the rest of the day, ending a 6-day stay.

The Artrain's, sponsored by the Michigan Council of the Arts, visit to the city ends at 8 tonight. The train is parked on a Norfolk and Western Railroad spur parallel to Wick Road just west of Inkster Road.

The train has four tourable cars.

The first car deals with early man. Such articles as Indian masks, suit of armor and a jade figure are among the car's exhibits.

Car two contains art that emphasizes how large a role nature plays in influencing man's form of art.

Car three — called the gallery — is devoted to modern art. Art with more highly degrees of line, mass, volume and texture is exhibited. Visitors to this car are shown a short film.

The fourth car is used as a studio, where the visitor will see art work created by local residents. Paintings, ceramics, pottery and other craft are displayed.

The Artrain's visit to the city was arranged by the Romulus Department of Parks and Recreation.

Local sponsors in addition to city officials and the city's recreation department were Romulus Community Schools, Romulus Rotary Club, Romulus Literary Club, Romulus Jaycee Club and its auxiliary.

Frank J. Tolish, director of parks & recreation, said the Artrain's visit was a successful educational event.

A Michigan Council for the Arts spokesman said Friday that Michigan's Artrain will leave the state for the first time early next year for a tour of eight western states.

Firms fleece city residents

By HENRY CANTIN

Unlicensed and "fly-by-night" building contractors and home modernization firms have fleeced Romulus residents of between $50,000 and $75,000 in "shoddy, incomplete and in some instances unneeded" home repairs.

Clayton W. Meldrum, chief building inspector and manager of the Romulus Building Department, in disclosing the "unlicensed" operations of these home repair companies, Monday said an investigation is underway to determine possible court action.

More than 75 Romulus homeowners have complained to the building department on the tactics employed by some of the contractors, on unsatisfactory work performance and on work left uncompleted.

Meldrum said his office has received 35 complaints in recent months on firms that have performed home modernization projects without a license, or without getting a building permit that is required under the city's building codes and ordinances.

He issues a warning to Romulus home owners to make sure they are doing business with a legitimate and licensed firm. "So much heartache can be avoided by a check with our building department," Meldrum said.

Meldrum said the city's building department can institute proceedings to have the builder or firm's license revoked by the state.

One of the recent complaints received by the building department was made by a Romulus widow who "lost most of her life savings" in contracting with two firms to perform some plumbing and heating repairs in a home she purchased on Tyler Rd.

The firms were A-L Air-Conditioning and Nash Plumbing Contractor operated by Clarence Nash both of Westland, according to the widow.

These two firms were paid $900 and $1,500 respectively for work "not completed" according to contract terms. They violated city building codes according to the complaint made by the widow.

Meldrum said that a check with his department showed that the firms were not licensed. The firms were no longer operating at listed addresses.

He said that a warrant of larceny by conversion has been issued against the two companies.

The widow had to hire some other contractor to complete the work at an additional cost. It cost her about $5,000 to correct the work left unfinished by the two contractors, Meldrum said.

Subdivision plat plan turned down

Approval of the final plat plans for the development of Applewoode Subdivision No. 2 has been denied by the Romulus City Council.

Council denied approval of the plans for "lack of clarification as to the type of structures in the subdivision and the financing to be used."

The council unanimously approved a motion made by Councilman James C. Stewart requesting denial. He was supported by Councilman Edmund W. Bizek.

Three members of the seven-member city council were absent at last Thursday's council meeting when the plan approval was requested.

The request was made by

Kaufman and Broad Homes Inc., of Southfield, Applewoode Subdivision No. 2, located in the vicinity of Middlebelt Road between Eureka and Pennsylvania roads, is part of Kaufman and Broad's home development program in Romulus.

The company has developed several adjacent subdivisions with 600 homes completed or under construction. More homes are being planned by the firm.

Councilman Stewart said he could not vote for approving the plat plans until he is told what type of structures are being planned and what type of financing will be used in the proposed subdivision.

He added that he did not want any more homes in the City of Romulus that are financed under the 235 program of the Federal Housing Administration (FHA), a program for federal subsidizing of homes for moderate and low income families.

Michael Lewiston, attorney, appearing for Kaufman and Broad, told the council that the only matter before the council was a request for plat plan approval and the manner of types of structures and financing has not been determined. He said he was in no position to answer Stewart's inquiry.

Engineers study road maintenance

Wade, Trim & Associates of Taylor, Romulus city engineers, and the department of Public Works (DPW) will make a comprehensive survey of all the gravel roads within the city and their required maintenance.

Council President Jimmie Raspberry directed Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael to send a communication to the city engineers and DPW requesting the survey at last week's council meeting.

The mayor also was requested to have the building department make a comprehensive listing of all structures considered hazardous to the safety of the citizens. The city's legal counsel is supposed to draft procedures for their possible elimination.

The council president requested that the mayor direct department heads to submit a monthly written report to the council and to appear at least monthly before the city council.

At last week's session, two department matters were deleted from the council's agenda due to non-appearance of the department heads involved.

The City of Romulus also is considering the feasibility of contractual services for ditch maintenance in Romulus.

Charles Hellman of the Wade, Trim & Associates of Taylor, and the city's Department of Public Works director William Pritula will make the study on the program.

Council President Jimmie Raspberry recommended the feasibility study.

Liquor commission OK's Class C transfer

The Romulus City Council has approved a location change in an application for a new full year Class C liquor license with a dance permit.

The application was filed with the Michigan Liquor Control Commission (MLCC) by Gikendall Phenix of Romulus.

Phenix, an assistant to the city's urban renewal director, was one of five Romulus residents and business operators approved for Class C licenses allotted to the City of Romulus by the MLCC. The new Class C licenses were issued based on the population increase in Romulus as reflected in the 1970 U.S. Census.

Only one of the five licenses approved by the city has been issued by the MLCC. This license was issued to the owners and operators of Shady Hollow Golf Club located on South Wayne Road at Smith Street.

Phenix has notified the MLCC that his proposed location has been changed to 7091 Wayne Rd. from 6023 S. Wayne Rd.

The council also approved a request filed with the MLCC calling for the transfer of a Special Designated Merchant (SDM) license to William R. Millican of Romulus from James N. and Jeanette L. Robinson to be located at 37312 Eureka Rd., Romulus.

A SDM license is for take-out sales of beer and wine.

City development report is completed by consultant

A community development report on the City of Romulus' urban renewal project and the city's development potential has been completed.

The report "handsomely" detailed in brochure form, was prepared by Parkins, Rogers and Associates, Inc., planning and urban renewal consultants in Detroit. It was financed in part through funds granted by the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) to Romulus for the Wayne-Beverly Urban Renewal Project.

The brochure (5,000 printed) contains an illustrative site plan of the city's initial urban renewal program, a project area map and a large map showing areas surrounding the urban renewal project and their inducements for future community growth.

The brochure was prepared to promote total community development, Wilhelm said.

Copies of the brochure have been distributed to the Romulus Metro International Airport Chamber of Commerce, some schools and community service organizations.

Copies also are available at the urban renewal offices, 6446 S. Wayne Rd., Romulus.

Commissioners oppose bill for farmer tax relief

A House bill being touted as property tax relief for farmers actually would be a windfall for land speculators, a financial blow to schools and a tax increase for homeowners, according to Wayne County Commissioners. The county legislators meet last week and voted to oppose House Bill 6229 which has passed the House and is before the Senate. The commissioners directed that the Senate be advised of their position.

Opposition to the bill was recommended by the general government committee of the board of commissioners. Commissioner Rose Mary C. Robinson, Detroit Democrat and general government vice chairman, spearheaded the opposition.

School districts and other taxpayers would suffer if the bill is adopted in its present form, Morley added.

He said school districts which encompass rural areas would lose part of their state aid revenues because the state aid formula is based on state equalized valuation which would be decreased by the exemptions.

Non-farm taxpayers could find themselves paying higher taxes because tax rates might go up to offset the loss of revenues to schools and other governmental units.

"This legislation could really be a disaster in areas of primarily agricultural land worth more than $400 an acre," Morley said. "Generally speaking, virtually all land devoted to farming and open spaces would be undertaxed."

Morley said it was impossible to estimate at this time how much tax revenue might be lost in Wayne County. Approximately 100 of the county's 622 square miles are still being farmed.

Much of that already has been purchased by developers and speculators and is being farmed temporarily under lease and share-cropping arrangements, and thus would qualify for exemption under House Bill 6229, he said.

Morley said most farm land in Wayne County is worth at least $3,000 per acre. Under the state constitution, land is assessed at half its market value. Thus, the average property tax of $50 per $1,000 of assessed valuation would amount to $75 per acre, compared with the $10 per acre provided in the bill.

Passage of the bill as now written would actually spur land acquisition by speculators and thus actually defeat its own purpose in the long run, Morley said.

Commissioner Paul Silver, Detroit Democrat, charged that "speculators are going to make a killing."

"It isn't the farmers that are pushing this bill. It's the speculators," he said.

Morley said he believed the bill could be amended to eliminate its bad features while still providing tax relief for bonafide farmers. He said he would submit suggested amendments to the board of commissioners for possible endorsement.

Unattended area homes are prime burglary targets

While millions of Americans are enjoying the holiday weekend in the country or with families or friends away from home, their unattended homes and apartments will be prime targets for burglary.

Last year more than 1,170,000 residences were burglarized, many of them on holiday weekends when their occupants were "out of town."

The Insurance Information Institute said this assault against property is causing a strain on the rates for homeowner insurance.

Since theft is one of the perils insured against under the homeowners policy, the Institute said, it follows that as the crime rate rises, the number of claims filed with the insurance companies increases. FBI statistics show the burglary rate during the period 1961-1971 increased 154 per cent.

In 1971 property owners suffered an economic loss of $739 million as the result of burglary, with an average dollar loss of $312 per crime. Those losses covered by insurance were paid to property owners under the provisions of their policies.

Often routine practices assist the burglar. The Institute said a study by the National Council on Crime and Delinquency shows an estimated 20 per cent of all breaking and entering cases occur because people simply leave doors unlocked.

The Institute said that by observing a few helpful hints, chances for becoming a burglary statistic could be lessened.

1. Leave a light or two burning when leaving at night or on vacation. The purchase of an electric timer can be an excellent investment.

2. Notify a neighbor or your apartment manager when leaving for an extended period of time.

3. Place a broom handle or similar type of rod at the base of all sliding glass doors or windows to prevent them from being forced open.

4. Keep an inventory of all possessions. Also, keep on file the serial numbers of all major appliances, television sets, guns, etc.

5. Don't leave the garage door open when you leave.

Farms which have produced a gross income of $100 or more per acre during three of the preceding five years and farms of 100 or more acres would be eligible for exemption from regular property assessments.

Instead those properties would pay an annual "specific" tax in lieu of the regular property tax which is based on the market value of the land. The specific tax would range from $4 to $10 per acre, depending on soil composition.

Lands qualifying under the open space provisions of the bill would pay an annual specific tax of $7 per acre.

Charles E. Morley, director of the Wayne County Bureau of Taxation, said land which qualified under the bill would be taxed as if it were worth from $160 to $400 per acre.

There is virtually no farm land in Wayne County that is not worth more than $400 an acre, he said, and some is worth as much as $50,000 per acre because of its intended use for apartment development.

Land speculators could reap a tax bonanza by buying eligible land, holding it at least five years while paying the nominal "specific" tax, then either reselling or developing it, Morley said.

Michigan will enforce higher laws on meat

A stay has been granted allowing Michigan to continue enforcing higher comminuted meat laws, according to B. Daled Ball, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

"This is only a temporary victory," Ball said. "We will now continue our appeal through the Attorney General's office to the U. S. Supreme Court in an effort to maintain our high standards. In the meantime, we will be able to protect Michigan consumers."

Ball said retail meat counters in Michigan soon will be displaying signs which identify companies whose sausages and other meat products meet the Michigan Department of Agriculture's high standards for "Michigan Grade 1." Signs are being distributed by Michigan sausage manufacturers.

Ball advised consumers to take these precautionary measures when buying comminuted meats:

1. "Look for the identifying sign at your retail meat counter;
2. "Look for packages carrying the 'Michigan Grade 1' emblem;
3. "Where Grade 1" identifies products made only from fresh skeletal meat, with no animal by-products permitted, no added water or cereal. The products must contain at least 12 per cent protein.

Federal standards for comminuted meats permit the addition of such by-products as snouts, stomachs, lips, ears, spleens, salivary glands and esophagi. There is no minimum protein requirement, and the products may contain up to 10 per cent added water. Cereal fillers and concentrated soya protein also are permitted.

Ball said his department has been inundated with phone calls and letters from concerned consumers in Michigan and people as far away as Oregon, New York and California.

"It's turning into a consumer crusade," he said. "Much of the consumers' outrage is directed toward Armour, Hormel and Wilson, the three large out-of-state meat packers who filed suit in federal court in an attempt to force Michigan's higher standards down to the minimum federal requirements.

The court battle continues, with the scene shifting to the U.S. Supreme Court, where Michigan will appeal from the adverse ruling of a federal circuit court of appeals decision. Earlier, Michigan won the first round of the fight in federal district court in Grand Rapids.

Ball said final solution to the problem of permitting states to have higher standards is an amendment to the federal Wholesome Meat Act by Congress.

The strong support of consumers throughout the United States will be necessary if this is to be accomplished

Police chief has tips for holiday motorists

Romulus Police Chief Jacob J. Koch has some Thanksgiving weekend safety tips for motorists.

"Poor visibility and slippery pavement caused by the first winter storms often occur about Thanksgiving time," he said. "These conditions add to the holiday hazards normally incurred even in fair weather."

"It pays to give some thought to trips in advance. A safe trip may depend on the car or the weather — but mostly it's up to you."

The following tips may insure a safe and happy holiday trip.

1. Check the car engine, brakes and tires. Make sure the engine is well tuned and all lights and directional signals are working properly.

Use snow tires for loosely packed snow or studded tires

(where permitted), preferably on all four wheels for additional traction on ice. Carry a set of reinforced tire chains for severe snow and ice conditions.

2. Plan the trip so the driver can stop and rest frequently (at least every couple of hours). Study the route carefully so you know where intersections and route changes are. Be well rested and alert.

3. Check for weather conditions. Highway patrol station weather bureaus or motor clubs can brief drivers on conditions along the route.

"If you are driving in a storm or other conditions with decreased visibility," Koch said, "Drive with your lights on low beam and stop to clean them regularly. A sight deficiency should be corrected at once."

"It's better to wait out a storm than to get stranded on the highway or become another accident statistic," he added.

Abortion reform advocates bitter after B defeat

By RANDY GARTON

Bitterness remains with abortion reform advocates following the defeat of Proposal B on Nov. 7.

Dr. Richard Goldfine, an obstetrician-gynecologist at Sinai Hospital in Detroit, accused the anti-abortion forces of deceptive, misleading advertising and just plain lying in some of their literature.

"They (anti-abortion groups) waged a dishonest, deceitful campaign," Goldfine said. "They lied a great deal, medically and concerning the proposed law."

Goldfine said that abortion foes called the 20 weeks limit proposed for abortion five months, though 20 weeks is far short of a full five months.

"They also showed cans full of aborted fetuses purporting to be 20 weeks old," Goldfine said, "when in reality those fetuses were at least 30 weeks old."

Although Jaynes admits that at least one of the fetuses in the advertisement was "at least 28 weeks old," he does not regret the discrepancy.

"Our purpose was to show the horror of abortion," he said. "We can document that the babies in the surgical wastecan were aborted."

He said that the pictures of the fetuses in that and other very graphic photos were designed to convince people that some doctors would perform abortions at a later stage than 20 weeks.

"It's done all the time in New York," he said. "Actually it's done as a premature birth for medical reasons. And though many of these operations are legitimate, many are simply "premature abortions."

Goldfine said that the abortion referendum committee filed a complaint with the unfair election practices commission about advertisements, but nothing substantive happened.

"Our problem was that we didn't appeal to emotion," he said. "Our campaign was primarily educational, trying to reason with people. And we didn't have the money they did."

Goldfine said he didn't believe the abortion referendum committee would initiate another campaign in the near future.

"Most of us are just hoping that the Michigan Supreme Court rules favorably on Judge (Charles) Kaufman's decision."

Judge Kaufman ruled several weeks prior to the election that Michigan's abortion statutes were unconstitutional. That decision has been appealed and is now pending before the Supreme Court.

Dr. Jaynes is intimately involved with the Kaufman decision since he is one of two court-appointed "guardians of the unborn" in the case. After the decision, Jaynes says his organization, "Voice of the Unborn," will continue to press for "pro-life" legislation.

"We realize that the social problems of unwed mothers and other problems will not go away," he said. "We intend to work toward better adoption procedures and sex education. But the most important part of our work is pushing responsible procreation."

"You'll still be hearing from us," he said. "We're active in all pro-life activities."

State questions PCHA

Even though the Michigan Attorney General's office is investigating the Peoples Community Hospital Authority's (PCHA) proposed borrowing of $2.5 million from the National Bank of Detroit for additions to two PCHA facilities, the expansion projects are continuing as planned.

The case comes up before the Municipal Finance Commission, which is expected to call another meeting next week with PCHA officials, according to James F. Marling, executive secretary of the commission.

"They (PCHA) are undertaking an expansion program at two of the hospitals," Marling said. "We were made aware of what they were doing and how they were planning to finance it, but the attorney general had some questions."

PCHA at its Oct. 26 board meeting decided to begin construction projects to expand Wayne's Annapolis and Lincoln Park's Outer Drive hospitals.

At that time, legal counsel Charles B. Cozadd told board members he had been working on several approaches to finance the PCHA $6.1 million building program which was stalled in September because of the indecision arising from the Michigan Supreme Court ruling on the Detroit sports stadium case.

The authority had expected to okay the sale of $5 million in bonds at a Sept. 7 special meeting, but was told by bond counsel that he could not recommend approving the bond sale.

Although action is being taken to amend Act 94, the Revenue Bond Act, which caused the bond sale halt, Cozadd told the board PCHA could begin construction with the $3 million in the general fund. The money had been earmarked for a "down payment" on the construction of a hospital in Taylor.

"Our feeling (PCHA) is that we are keeping in line with our statute," Board Chairman Donald J. Pizzimenti said Friday. "So we are going to go ahead with construction."

"Things have been very confused, and there has been a misunderstanding as to whether or not we borrowed money. We only got a commitment from the bank."

"The possibility of borrowing is not a real one. Whether we sell bonds or not, PCHA still will have money to pay for construction."

"Our attorney is meeting with the Municipal Finance Commission and should have come to some understanding by the Nov. 30 board meeting," he said. "I don't anticipate any problems."

In May, the authority was told it would receive a $600,000 federal grant for the project from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, which distributes the fund under the Hill-Burton Act.

Sources in Lansing said PCHA needed a total of $5.4 million, which along with $600,000 in Hill-Burton money could be used to finance the expansion of the hospitals.

"PCHA seems to be lying to Hill-Burton to get the $600,000 in funds," the source added.

that no more 235 homes would be in the proposed subdivision. He cited the current problems and conditions under investigation in the Meadowdale and Applewoode subdivisions, located in the vicinity of Eureka Road between Inkster and Middlebelt roads. More than 20 homes financed under provisions of 235 are vacant and have been vandalized.

The attorney said he was in no position to know what type of financing would be involved at this time. He added that homes in the $24,000 to $28,000 price range are being proposed.

Stewart also rejected a letter of credit from a New York bank which was filed with the plat plans and required in conforming with the city's building codes and subdivision ordinance.

Stewart's objections were raised when he couldn't decipher the signature on the check.

City offices to be closed

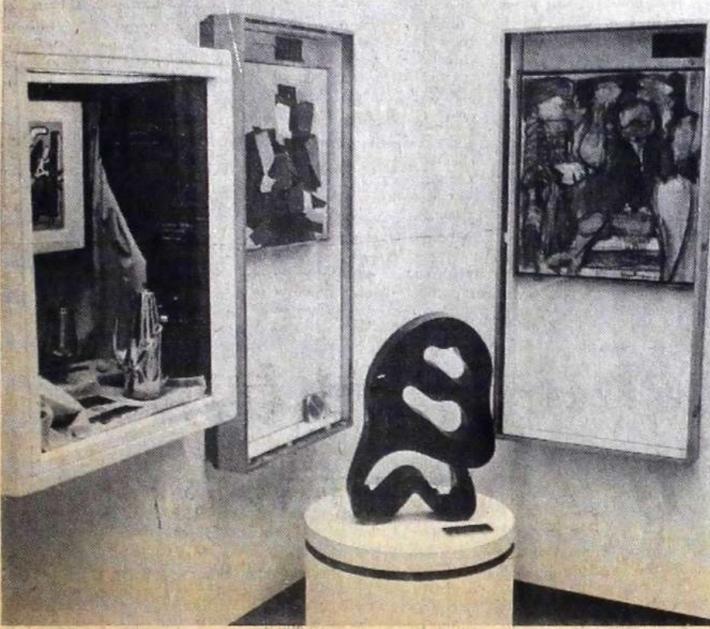

A decision by the Romulus City Council that city offices remain open this Friday has been vetoed by Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael. The council's action was based on a legal opinion rendered by City Attorney John E. Young.

The city offices will be closed on tomorrow (Thanksgiving Day), Friday and Saturday.

An early administrative order allowing city employees to have Friday off and officially announced by the mayor was rescinded by the council at last week's council session.

Mayor Carmichael in said city employees decided to work on Veterans Day this year in return for the Friday holiday.

Suburbs can expect low income housing

By TOM OCHILTREE, Daily Eagle
Washington Bureau Chief

Suburban municipalities soon can expect new and more vigorous challenges to their zoning and subdivision ordinances which keep out the poor and minority group members from the central cities.

So says Richard F. Babcock, a Chicago attorney recognized as a leading authority on housing and planning law.

His prediction formed the thrust of an article he wrote for "HUD Challenge," the official monthly magazine of Secretary George Romney's Department of Housing and Urban Development.

According to Babcock, it might be better in the long run for suburban communities to compromise by accepting a "fair share" allocation of low and moderate income housing than wait to be "overwhelmed by superior economic forces."

While he did not mention the ring of suburbs around Detroit by name, Babcock's comments would apply to many municipalities in the greater Detroit area just as they would to the Metropolitan regions of other large American cities.

In his tenure at HUD, Romney found out how explosive this subject of open housing can be. This will be one of the delicate problems the man who succeeds Romney at HUD will have to deal with.

Babcock referred to the massive migration of white middle class families and a great deal of industry from the increasingly black central cities to the suburbs in the last three decades.

By means of ordinances requiring large lots and costly development standards, these new communities "hoped that apartments would be kept at a minimum and subsidized housing for low and moderate income families could be totally excluded.

For a time it worked that way, Babcock pointed out, but new forces are emerging "to challenge the assumption that each municipality is absolute master of its land use fate."

House building has become big business, which has helped shift the balance between suburb and developer. He explained:

"The small builder who 15 years ago could not match the gamesmanship of the suburb that wanted to discourage apartments has been replaced by a corporation listed on the big board that can marshal the resources necessary to outwait or successfully challenge local resistance."

Another pressure point, Babcock said, stems from many civil libertarians having "turned from segregated schools to segregated housing as their point of attack." They say ordinances which keep real estate prices out of the reach of many people constitute a denial of the equal protection clause of the U.S. Constitution's 14th Amendment.

"Even the federal government, understandable cautious in such politically sensitive areas as who-lives-next-to-whom, has begun to make noise that federal grants in aid for suburban parks, hospitals and sewer systems may be awarded first to those communities that show a willingness to allow some mix in housing, both in type and price," Babcock said.

Finally, arguments about ecology can have a backlash effect so far as suburban zoning and subdivision ordinances are concerned.

If a given suburb protests the proposed location of a nuclear power plant or an interstate highway on land adjacent to its borders, the example of this action tends to undermine the same suburb's authority to control absolutely the kind of houses located within its boundaries, he said.

Conflicts about land use tend finally to wind up in the laps of governors and state legislatures.

"Once the state shakes off its lethargy, even for limited purposes, those other critics of local land use regulations, the builders and the civil libertarians, will press the states to take on more responsibilities in other areas such as housing that had traditionally been left to each municipality," Babcock predicted.

He listed Michigan, Wisconsin, New Jersey, Colorado and Pennsylvania as states which already have begun to reappraise traditional assumptions that left all land use regulations to local authorities.

What can become about these new challenges? Babcock said communities should join together to plan a policy of development for an area larger than the boundaries of each municipality. This way they will be better able to resist proposals for developments they don't want.

He suggested: "Each suburban municipality should acknowledge responsibility to take a reasonable share of low income housing unless it can demonstrate some special reason why it could be exempt."

"Then, the village should join in a demand for a joint suburban program to make a 'fair share' allocation of such housing units among all suburban communities. It is idiocy to allow courts and developers to deal on an ad hoc basis with this crucial issue."

Mr. Clift was a man not to be forgotten

To the editor:

I am one of many, many persons interested in the future of Western Wayne County who will miss Ray Clift.

As co-publisher of the Associated Newspapers, he was always deeply concerned about the communities served by his newspapers. He was willing to become involved, to comment on the important issues of the day and to take a stand when necessary. He encouraged his editors and writers to do the same. In a very real sense, he was a community leader.

Any community is fortunate to have men like Ray Clift. His memory, and surely his example, should not be soon forgotten.

No recognition given band seniors at game

To the editor:

Last Friday evening at the Ypsilanti-Belleville High School football game, one particular group of young people was given one more example of the glory of football and its dollars as opposed to an equally dedicated but taken-for-granted part of the game.

I am speaking specifically of the band, more particularly of the 26 seniors who were not allowed to be recognized for their four years of long hours working for the prime purpose of football half time shows. This is the last four-year group for Belleville High School.

The band worked hard and long preparing for this halftime show. They had asked for permission from the athletic department for a 20-minute halftime period because the Ypsilanti Girls Drum & Bugle Corps had asked to perform at the same time.

As good hosts, they let the girls have first place on the program. Had they known that the time would be shortened and they would be turned off much as are the lights, they might have been able to include this part in what they were doing.

But without any advance notice they received the signal to leave the field without completing their show which included the announcement and recognition of the 26 seniors. They left without any argument, as to remain would have meant that their football team would have received an immediate penalty.

Who did get named? Why, all the senior football players and cheerleaders! Who works just as hard, if not harder? The members of the band.

Something should be done or said to make up for this oversight. I am sure that the members of the band consider it more than an oversight, even an insult and a slap in the face.

One can only feel that it helps to make a young person feel resentment and disillusionment with the whole adult segment of their world when something for which they have worked so hard so long is ignored. They are asked to perform many times when it is hard to justify why and then are treated in such a manner.

They did not even receive any notice at the school pep assembly. As a band, as is their custom, they stood at attention during the program while all the rest received the glory. Try it, standing at attention, like they do for half an hour or so.

They are asked to march in 17-year old uniforms wearing jackets, shoes, etc., that they purchase themselves. And they are responsible for the cleaning and upkeep of their own uniforms.

Do the athletic teams have to do this on their own? I would say not. One member of this family was a high school football player giving his all for the good of the team, a knee that is still hurting and will for years to come and an operation during college for removal of a source of infection that developed during the many hours of playing in cold, damp weather, all for football.

He got some of the glory, even a letter for all this hard work, but the band receives nothing as recognition from the school for all their hours.

In our opinion

Thanksgiving offers continuation of 'good'

Every nation has its cherished customs and traditions.

Some go back to the beginning of Christianity or even further. Some are of more recent origin such as Thanksgiving which had its inception in what is now the United States when a small band of pilgrims, newly landed on the hostile shores of New England, gave thanks for the mere fact of being alive.

Thanksgiving has become a solidly entrenched American institution. It offers firm reassurance of the continuity and stability of all that is good and wholesome in U.S. life today.

As families and friends gather together to share the repast of Thanksgiving, they should pause to recall the purpose of that first day of thanks participated in by a handful of pilgrims centuries ago. That purpose is an expression of simple appreciation for the fact of survival-of being alive.

We are not only alive today, but we have a nation that attained heights beyond anything the pilgrims could have dreamed. In attaining those heights, our country stands in danger of losing its sense of values.

Tomorrow — Thanksgiving Day — is an appropriate day to pledge their restoration.

State placed in quandary

Governor William G. Milliken will be damned if he does. And he'll be damned if he doesn't.

Because Detroit voters have rejected every millage election proposal in recent months, the city's public schools are in a financial crisis so great that classrooms may be closed from Christmas vacation through mid-February.

To keep Detroit's youngsters in school, Milliken said Tuesday that he supports a $20 million advance in state aid to go along with a $22 million loan the school board accepted the same day from six Detroit banks.

Should such an advance be made, you'd better believe that a lot of people outside the City of Detroit will look upon the move as the start of more state support of Detroit's schools.

And that is considered to be one of the fears Michigan voters had in rejecting Proposal C — removing school operating finances from local property taxes — in last week's election.

Also suggested has been legislation allowing Detroit to levy a special school operations tax on its residents in a city that already has state permission to impose a higher income tax than any other community in Michigan.

We're sure that wouldn't be looked upon with much favor from those Detroit residents who feel the school board hasn't done all it can to eliminate unnecessary expenses.

We don't believe in the State of Michigan playing favorites when it comes to helping one area over another. Detroit is only one of 60 school districts in Michigan considered to be in financial difficulty.

We have school districts in Western Wayne County that are in need of additional funds. Other local districts rank at the top of the list when it comes to imposing property taxes on themselves to run their schools.

However, we also feel the youngsters in Detroit must be allowed the opportunity for a quality education. Shutting classroom doors for eight weeks in mid-year won't do that. In fact, having classes for less than 175 days will cost Detroit's schools their accreditation, meaning the students won't be able to get into college.

We hope that the state will take some kind of emergency action to keep the Detroit schools open — the state aid advance seems like the best idea — but do it with one vital prerequisite.

In order to get the early money, the Detroit schools should have to turn over their books to the state for a thorough financial investigation, similar to the situation involving Wayne County Community College a year ago.

Since the Detroit school administrators have been unable to eliminate unnecessary spending, maybe the State of Michigan could do it for them.

We hear all these complaints about several schools' hierarchy. If proven true, the residents of Detroit deserve some remedial action rather than verbal abuse.

If every last effort to economize has been made within the Detroit schools, then the residents should be assured of that too.

In any case, Detroit schools should not be treated by the state any differently than the state's other districts.

Survey results are coming in

Initial responses to our partial survey of the Nov. 7 election are already in our office, providing us with some early ideas of why people in Western Wayne County voted as they did two weeks ago.

The answers are extremely interesting as — in the words of one respondent — we have asked area voters to "bare their souls."

For those who may have missed our request last week, we're reprinting our questionnaire below. So that we may publish the results Wednesday of next week, we have set a deadline of Friday for having the questionnaire sent to The Daily Eagle.

As mentioned last week, the survey is conducted on an anonymous basis so that no one will ever know for whom or what you voted nor the personal information we've requested.

Our purpose in running the questionnaire is our desire in finding out why voters in Western Wayne County cast their ballots the way they did in the hope that something positive can be done. Otherwise we can only speculate on the reasons behind the votes.

For example, some of the responses already received were from persons who voted against the abortion reform proposal because it was far too liberal, not because they opposed some kind of change.

Some others have indicated their presidential vote was not for Richard Nixon, but rather one against George McGovern. Likewise, some Robert Griffin votes were actually protests against Frank Kelley in the U.S. Senate balloting.

We're especially interested in the reasons proposals C and D were defeated since school districts in Western Wayne County would have been among those benefiting most from the proposed change.

So keep those cards and letters coming in. Replies should be addressed to The Editor, The Daily Eagle, 35540 Michigan Ave. West, Wayne, Mich. 48184.

We appreciate your help in this venture.

Daughters fete George Allans on golden year

In celebration of the Golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. George Allan of 25 Potter Dr., Belleville, a party, given by their daughters, was held at the Bedell St. home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sullens Saturday evening, November 11. Present for the gold event were 27 guests, among them Rev. and Mrs. Norman Allan of Englewood, Florida, who arrived on Thursday, bringing with them 40 oranges as a surprise gift. Rev. Allen, the younger brother of Mr. Allan, was one of the five guests who were present at the wedding 50 years ago. The others were Herman Wagner of Detroit, brother-in-law of Mrs. Allan, who was best man; Mrs. Jesse Hewens of Ypsilanti, a niece of Mr. Allan, who was a very small child at the time and Mrs. Allan's two brothers, Robert Harcourt of Ferndale and William Harcourt of Grayling.

Other guests present at the party, including Mrs. William Harcourt from Grayling, came from Hudson, Ohio, Detroit, Ypsilanti, Flat Rock, Whittaker and Belleville.

George Elmer Allan and Cora Harcourt were married in Detroit November 11, 1922 and moved to the Willis area shortly afterwards where they lived until 1940 when they moved the Belleville address.

Mr. Allan worked for Whitman Barnes Tool and Die Co. of Plymouth since the early 30's. He has been retired for about 4 1/2 years.

They are the parents of three daughters, Mrs. Arthur Monks (Virginia), of Belleville; Mrs. Andrew Tonkovich (Dorothy) of Hudson, Ohio; and Mrs. Harry Sullens (Jean) of Belleville.

The Allans have seven grandchildren. Their oldest grand child, Susan Monks Witten, was born on their 25th wedding anniversary, November 11, 1947, and she is the mothers of their only great-grand child, Linda. Other grandchildren are John Monks, Claudia and Gordon Sullens, and Alan, Sharon and Douglas Tonkovich.

The Allans received several lovely gifts of flowers. Their three daughters presented their mother with a white and gold orchid corsage and their father with a white and gold carnation boutonniere; he in turn presented each daughter with carnation corsages in keeping with the color scheme.

The evening was spent socializing with many pictures being taken. A lunch, including an anniversary cake made and decorated by Virginia, was served by Jean and Virginia who were assisted by their daughters, Susan Witten and Claudia Sullens.

Pork chop medley

Pork responds favorably to a wide range of different seasonings. Choose one to match your mood and the occasion, but try them all: (1.) Braise chops in fruit juice — orange, pineapple or cranberry-apple. (2.) Season browned chops by sprinkling lightly with marjoram, sage, chili powder or thyme before adding a small amount of liquid for braising. (3.) Smother browned chops with condensed cream of celery soup diluted with several tablespoons of water, cover and braise.

GIFTS GALORE — The Episcopal Church Women of Trinity Episcopal Church are putting the finishing touches to their projects earmarked for the Old-Fashioned Christmas Bazaar Wednesday, November 29. Workshops have been held weekly to prepare handicrafts, fancywork and other novelties for the annual event. Mrs. Jeane Wilson (from left), Mrs. Barbara McKenzie, Mrs. Mabel Ridley, and Mrs.

Mildred Bennett are but a few of the members preparing items for the sewing and crafts center. A silent auction, bake shoppe, and country store will be among the booths featured. Highlighting the 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. proceedings will be a spaghetti dinner served from 5 to 7 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

Holiday ideas shared at Home Arts Club

Members of the Home Arts Club held their November meeting at the North Junior High School home economics room. Club yearbooks were distributed and reviewed. A short business meeting, under the direction of Dorothy Florida, president, finalized plans for the annual Christmas party.

Sharon Matthews has invited the group to her home on Charles Street for the December 11 event. As the result of a motion made at the initial meeting, only members who have their dues paid will be eligible to attend. A $1 gift exchange for those who care to participate will be included in the program.

Twenty-seven members answered roll call with two guests, Sharon Book and Dorothy Humphrey, introduced.

The evening was spent sharing Christmas ideas and traditions with many members displaying items they had made for holiday giving, decorating and eating (with recipes and plates of homemade Polish kielbasa, cards and cookies to sample. Handicrafts exhibited included sewing, crocheting, painting, and table decorations.

Before returning home the group enjoyed a variety of homemade nut breads, tea and coffee served from a colorful table featuring orange, yellow and brown appointments and a floral autumn centerpiece. Sally Jones and her committee, Charlotte Budd, Joy Hill, Betty Gott, and Mildred Baker were hostesses for the evening.

MR. and MRS. FRANK WALKER

Open house will honor Walkers

Fifty years of togetherness will be observed Sunday, November 26, as Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walker of 13270 Hoelt Road, Belleville, observe their golden wedding anniversary. An open house from two to five is being planned by their daughters, Mrs. George (Jean) Schweigert and Mrs. Kenneth (Marian) Egnor, both of Belleville. Festivities will be held at the Masonic Temple in Belleville.

Residents of this area since 1939, the Walkers were married November 25, 1922. The former Gladys Whitmer became Mrs. Walker in a ceremony held at her parents home in Willis. The couple has three grandchildren, David and Dona Egnor and Linda Schweigert.

Mr. Walker retired in 1965 after being employed for 26 years at the Heinger Chevrolet Garage in Belleville. Among those who will attend the Sunday party is Mrs. Walker's father, Carl B. Whitmer, who is 93 years young.

Time chart for roasting turkey in preheated 325 degree oven

Ready-to-cook Weight	Approximate Cooking Time
12lbs.	4 1/2 hours
16lbs.	5 1/2 hours
20lbs.	6 1/4 hours
24lbs.	7 hours

(Note: Because turkeys vary from one to another due to conformation, variety, etc., cooking times can be only approximate, and it would be well to allow an extra half hour of roasting time in case the turkey needs the extra cooking.)

MISS AMATUCCI

Wedding planned

St. Michael's Catholic Church in Livonia is being reserved for the April 27 wedding of Rose Anne Amatucci and John L. Vickerman. Their engagement and nuptial date are announced by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Amatucci of 35212 Leon, Livonia, parents of the bride-elect.

Currently employed at the J. L. Hudson, Company, Miss Amatucci is an alumna of Churchill High School's class of 1972.

Her fiance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Vickerman of 30490 Pennsylvania Road, Romulus, was graduated from Ferris State College in 1970 and now works as a pharmacist at Annapolis Hospital, Wayne. He is a member of SCCA, Sports Car Club of America.

Open date labeling: Post marks a first

In a move to help the consumer as well as the retailer, the Post Division of General Foods Corporation will be the first major cereal manufacturer to use open date labeling on its entire cereal line. By January 1, 1973, the entire Post cereal line will carry open date labels on its packages.

In May, 1972, packages of Post Bran Flakes were the first to come off the packaging line with words, "Best when used by this date" with an arrow pointing to a stamped month, day and year on the top flap. The date stamped on the boxes does not represent a day when the product inside has gone stale.

Instead, the label tells consumers that if they use the product by the date stamped on top, they'll be sure of getting consistent high quality in the cereal they eat.

Since the program has been implemented, it has received strong support from retailers and very favorable reaction from consumers. This is not the first innovation for the Post Division. They were the first cereal manufacturer to fortify their entire cereal line with 8 essential vitamins.

A lovelier you

Don't count sheep, sleep!

How much sleep do you need? For adults it's an individual matter. Some people thrive on six hours or less, while others need ten.

What is the best time to retire? Your personal choice and life style dictate the hour. You may prefer to get to bed early and get up early, or the other way around. The hours are immaterial, as long as you get the amount and kind of sleep that rests you and makes you happy.

The first requisite of a good rest is comfortable sleeping arrangements, such as a firm mattress (have you tried a water bed?) Pillows that pamper your head and neck are without which notes. Likewise, fresh linens, a tidy room, and airy atmosphere.

Most important is a relaxed approach. Counting sheep won't force sleep. It will not come unless you unwind and let your tensions go.

Once in bed, concentrate on relaxing your muscles. Let every one go slack, starting with the toes. Then lightly massage your temples and forehead. As the body goes limp, the mind does, too. And off to sleep you go.

Belleville Girl Scout is new board member

The volunteer and professional staff of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council has been reorganized to place new emphasis on teen-age troops.

Six Senior Scouts, all high school students, have been appointed members of the Board of Directors of the Council which governs the Girl Scouting activities of 12,500 Scouts in Washtenaw, Livingston, Western Wayne and northern Monroe counties.

Nancy Lemanski of Belleville; Renee Jones of Ypsilanti; Linda Bartalsky of Plymouth; Laura Patterson of Westland; and Vicki Frazer and Suzy Dice of Ann Arbor took their seats on the Council in October and will serve for one year.

"We are eager to hear the ideas and opinions of these young women as our Council expands our program with senior high and college students," Mrs. James Kennedy, Council President, said recently.

To implement new programs coming from the Council, Sue Imel, a Huron Valley Field Director for the Wayne-Westland and Ann Arbor areas for the past two years, has been named Field Consultant on teen-age troops. Miss Imel will identify problems and experiment with solutions to plan future programs for these girls. A former secondary school teacher, Miss Imel received her M.A. degree from the University of Michigan in library science and a B.S.

degree in education from Indiana University.

Taking over as Field Director for Wayne-Westland troops will be Miss Helen Danley who also supervises Girl Scouting in Plymouth. Miss Danley has been Field Director in the Huron Valley Council for 10 years.

The new Field Director for Ypsilanti and the rest of Eastern Washtenaw and southern Wayne counties will be newly appointed Mrs. Betty Jean Mathews. Mrs. Mathews has been Field Director in Mt. Clemens for two years. She was an active Girl Scout for 10 years and for five years served as a volunteer Senior troop advisor in metropolitan Detroit. A 1968 graduate of Eastern Michigan University where she majored in social science, Mrs. Mathews is married to Arthur Mathews and has one daughter, Ann, age two.

Field Directors Mrs. Cathy Pfeiffer, serving Ann Arbor Scouts, and Mrs. Ellen Petter, working with Livingston County and Western Washtenaw county troops, will keep the same areas.

BRING ON THE DESSERT — Crunchy nut-like cereal nuggets are the hidden treasure that makes this pudding so unusual — and so unusually good. Hidden Treasure Pudding Cereal.) combines, milk, eggs, raisins, and the cereal

Cereal dessert-- hidden treasure fun

Hidden Treasure Pudding

- 3/4 cup Post Grape-Nuts Brand Cereal
- 1/2 cup butter, melted
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 3 eggs, well beaten
- 2 cups milk
- 1/2 cup raisins (optional)
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 egg white
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg or cinnamon (optional)

If there are any problem eaters among the children in your family, it's nice to know that you can serve them something good that's good for them, especially when you disguise nutrients in a custardy pudding. Eggs, milk, raisins, and cereal all go into Hidden Treasure Pudding — a scrumptious dessert that will be greeted with shouts of joy by mature "good eaters" and childish problem eaters alike.

Crunchy nut-like cereal nuggets are the hidden treasure that makes this pudding so unusual — and so unusually good. The finished dessert is neither custard nor bread pudding, though it's delightfully reminiscent of both. The cereal settles to the bottom of the baking dish to form a bread pudding-like layer, topped by a layer of custard. Meringue topknots dress up individual servings of the pudding, but are optional.

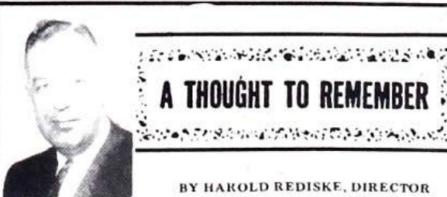

Try this interesting cereal dessert to end a family meal, or serve it for that extra-special occasion. Either way, you can enjoy elegance and nutrition in one delicious dessert.

Thoroughly mix cereal with butter. Blend 1/2 cup sugar into beaten eggs; add cereal mixture and 2 cups milk, 1/4 cup raisins, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg or cinnamon, and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Blend well. Pour into 1-quart baking dish; place in pan of hot water. Bake at 375 for 30 minutes; stir thoroughly. Meanwhile beat egg white until meringue forms stiff shiny peaks. Spoon in mounds over stirred, partially baked dessert. Then bake about 30 minutes longer, or until knife inserted 1 inch from center comes out clean and meringue is lightly browned. Serve warm or cooled. Makes about 4 cups or 6 servings.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

BY HAROLD REDISKE, DIRECTOR

ONCE UPON A TIME... some Pilgrims sailed from England on the Mayflower. They landed in America to build new homes in an untamed wilderness. They started a new life in strange and frightening circumstances. They suffered devastating privations. After a winter of virtual starvation, they reaped a good harvest. They were thankful. At autumn time they set a day aside for feasting — and Thanksgiving.

Time went on. Generations of Americans have since feasted on Thanksgiving — and most of them, presumably — likewise gave thanks to a merciful God not only for food but for many other blessings as well. Blessings found only in America; nowhere else.

In our time, most of us still feast heartily on Thanksgiving. But... we wonder how much meekness and humility is actually felt on that day? We wonder how many really yearn to thank God; whether that yearning to express thanks is as strong as the yearning for increased blessings and benefits? We wonder too how many of us deserve His continued, plentiful blessings? Yes, we wonder. Do you?

Pockets for pork

For self-sealing stuffed pork chops, follow these simple directions. Select rib chops approximately 1½ inches thick. Ask meat retailer to cut pockets in the chops from the rib side or using a small sharp knife, cut into the center of the chop from the rib side, parallel to the rib bone and surface of the chops. Be careful not to cut all the way through the edge of the fat on the other side. Pockets cut on the rib side close during cooking to seal in the stuffing. No skewers or stitches are needed.

Tips for turkey-time

Holiday Roast Turkey

To thaw turkey, enclose in a heavy brown sack, fold over end and allow to stand at room temperature for about 1 hour per pound. Remove plastic bag, remove neck and giblets, rinse turkey and pat dry. Cook neck and giblets for broth and for flavoring dressing and giblet gravy.

Stuff turkey loosely with favorite dressing (allowing ¾ cup per pound), fasten down legs by tying or tucking under skin band, and skewer neck to back. Twist wings akimbo under bird.

BHS singers added to YFU Chorale

The Belleville High School Choir is proud to announce that out of state-wide competition, singers Kathy Chen and Cheryl Knight were accepted to the Youth for Understanding Chorale.

The YFU Chorale, which is centered in Ann Arbor, select the choir of 50 singers on the quality of voice and sight reading ability. They must be recommended by their choir director. Personal qualifications in addition to the musical requirement include: scholarship, leadership in school, church and community affairs; interest in people; and willingness to give time for preparation and acceptance of responsibility for their own conduct. The students must be good representatives of American teenagers and must qualify as exchange students.

The program is designed to develop understanding and friendship between countries, using one of the oldest arts in the world. It gives talented young musicians an opportunity to sing with an excellent ensemble, gaining valuable training and experience. It focuses attention on American composers and the quality of performance for which our public school music programs prepare young people.

Kathy, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Allen Chen, 11933 Belleville Rd., is a senior and an excellent representative of her school. Along with two years of concert choir, Kathy's musical accomplishments include nine years at the piano and a part in the chorus of the musical; Brigadoon, performed by the high school in 1970.

As a freshman and sophomore, Kathy served as treasurer of the Girls Glee Club and has performed the same service for the concert choir these past two years. Last year she was chosen by Keith Drayton to sing in his chorale, a group of select singers who perform for area groups and special concerts.

Kathy, who belongs to the Methodist church in Belleville, is active in its youth group as well as being vice-president of the French club at BHS, and secretary of the Girls Athletic Association.

Cheryl Knight, a junior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Knight, 45 E. Wabash, has applied herself to the music program within the school system with great enthusiasm. She sang in Mr. Drayton's Girls Glee Club only one semester before he discovered her musical talent and placed her on an alto in the concert choir where she has sung for two years. Her accomplishments in music haven't ended with her vocal talents. She also plays clarinet with the Symphony and Marching Band. And has also been chosen by Greg Heuer, the band conductor, to perform with the Jazz Band, a group working on much the same basis as Drayton's chorale did.

Airport Chamber of Commerce elects officers

A new president and executive officers have been elected by the board of directors of the Romulus Metro International Airport Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber's new executive family was elected at last Monday's meeting held at the chamber's offices, 36518 Goddard Rd., Romulus.

The new chamber president is Richard C. Enright, vice president of Industrial Relations at the Kerr Manufacturing Co. in Romulus.

Other executive officers are:

Jack D. Glaab, first vice president; Edmund L. Galaska, second vice president; Mrs. Dolores E. Ristow, secretary; and Gerald R. Reder, treasurer.

Enright lives at 2860 Longmeadow, Trenton with his wife, Lorna, and daughter, Beth Ann, 19; and son, James, 16.

He is a graduate of Lincoln Park Senior High School and Michigan State University and joined Kerr Manufacturing Co. in July, 1966. He was promoted to director of industrial relations in 1967 and vice president of industrial relations in 1968.

In accepting the presidency of the chamber, Enright said "our number one goal is to zero in on the major objectives of the chamber as stated in the chamber's by-laws."

"We must promote and foster business of high standards, encourage educational, civic and recreational interests, correct trade abuses, aid and protect all members and do things that are properly within the scope of such an organization for the welfare of its members and the Romulus community," according to the by laws.

He added that his number two goal is to have many members of the chamber involved in plans and programs for the 1973-74 year.

"The real heart of any organization is the sum total of the input of its membership," he said.

Enright is a charter member of the chamber, current member of the Industrial Relations Association of Detroit, member of the Organization & Extension Committee of the Boy Scouts of America (1955-1960), member of the Detroit Personal Managers Association since 1959, and member of its program committee. He also is a member of the International Rotary Club of Romulus and board member of Delta Dental Plan of Michigan.

He replaces outgoing president Hazen P. Hay of the Hay Plumbing & Heating Co. of Romulus.

Glaab is a charter member of the chamber and the owner of Monarch Laundry & Cleaners, located on Goddard Road in Romulus. He has lived in the community 41 years and his grandparents have been resident of Romulus more than 80 years.

He has operated his business for the last 18 years, the first two years with his father, Pete Glaab.

Glaab and his wife, Gloria; and their eight children are very active members of St. Aloysius Catholic Church in Romulus. He currently is serving on the St. Aloysius School Board as treasurer and a past member of the Ushers Club.

He is an instructor with the Gabriel Richard Institute in Detroit, and present member of the Gregorian Club. He also is a former U.S. Marine.

Galaska is a charter member of the chamber and past director. He is manager of the Romulus branch of the National Bank of Detroit, located on Middlebelt Road near the Detroit Metropolitan Airport. He has been with the bank 25 years.

Galaska is a member of the Dearborn Heights Chamber of Commerce, Industrial Development Committee and the Goodfellows Association, both of Dearborn Heights, and a member of the Industrial Development Advisory Commission and Building Authority, both of Romulus. He and family live in Dearborn Heights.

Reder, a chamber member and director, is the controller of the Michigan Oven Co. in Romulus. Reder is in Florida and will be informed of his election upon his return.

Mrs. Ristow, charter member of the chamber, director and present director of public relations, has lived in Romulus for the last 16 years. She is married to Richard H. Ristow, Romulus resident for 41 years, whose great grandparents date back nearly 100 years in Romulus.

Mrs. Ristow received her education in Wisconsin. She formerly held the position of public relations officers (six years) and hospital and medical liaison (eight years) with the Bonded Credit Bureau, Detroit and Chicago, psychiatric secretary for five years and record transcriber for two individual psychiatrists; public relations officer and part owner of the C.B.S. Stables, Inc. and Willow Acres Stables, Michigan and Ohio.

Mrs. Ristow, who is the owner of the Dolore's Resale and Antique Shop in Romulus, has been reappointed public relations officer and city hall liaison for the chamber following her election as secretary.

She is the mother of two children: Cathy, 9, and Ricky, 8.

BY VICKI L. PALMER

The editor of the now defunct The Liberator, Belleville High School's first underground social comment newspaper, is a freshman at Michigan State University.

Mark Riggs, 18, has shifted his journalistic interest to photography. A student of Justin Morrill College, Mark is enrolled in a liberal arts program at Michigan State.

"It's so ridiculous," he said. "I bought a camera for a $1.75 and took pictures and then put the camera away in a drawer."

Then a year and a half ago his brother Paul, who is stationed in Japan, sent Mark some camera equipment.

Since the beginning of the term, Mark has taken pictures for two student publications — The Grapevine Journal and The Wolverine.

The Grapevine Journal is a minority student newspaper. Mark wasn't impressed with the pictures in the newspaper so he decided to get involved.

The Wolverine is the MSU yearbook.

Mark said he has the persistence and aggressiveness that it takes in doing the job.

Being a photographer for these publications not only involves getting experience, but getting paid a salary, he said.

Mark is especially pleased with the assignments he has been given so far, because they are all close to his dormitory.

Mark classified The Liberator, as a social comment type underground newspaper for Belleville High School.

"The Liberator tried to get both sides of the issue," he said. "It criticized both students and administration."

"Only the super-motivated would write to us."

The paper was published five times a month. Mark attributed its short life to the difficulty in motivating people. He was disappointed in the lack of response shown to his paper.

"Maybe people felt under attack because they were afraid they were differing with my views," he said.

However Mark said due to the publication of his paper that the TNT (at that time the name of Belleville High's paper) got a little more competitive in its publication.

"This was good," Mark said. "Competition improves the product."

Mark prefers taking nature photography. He would like to become a staff photographer on a national magazine. He also would like to go to far eastern countries and take pictures.

"That is one place that isn't photographed all the time," he said. "I can imagine some unique images I would like to take."

Mark is taking Russian this term because the language seems interesting, and besides I wanted to break out into something new."

County employes get pension raise

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has granted its retired employes a pension increase ranging up to 6 per cent.

About 2800 retirees will benefit from a revision of the employee retirement ordinance which was amended by the commissioners during their board meeting last week.

applies to those retired nearest 1970, the lowest to those retired in 1972.

Employees who retire after April 1, 1972, will not benefit from the change, but are expected to receive even larger pension allowances due to general pay increases and cost of living compensation.

The amendment increases the retirement allowance by 6 per cent for all employees who were retired by April, 1960.

Those retired between April, 1970 and April, 1972 will receive increases ranging from 6 per cent down to 1/4 of 1 per cent. The highest rate

The cost of these increased allowances will be borne entirely by the retirement system's reserve fund, which maintains a surplus. State law prohibits use of the retirement reserve fund for any other purpose.

Veterans can get clothing allowance

The Veterans Administration has notified 61,000 veterans who are known to be wearing prosthetic devices that they are eligible for an annual clothing allowance of $150.

Veterans who wear prosthetic or orthopedic devices and who did not receive the VA notice and application forms should write the nearest VA regional office if the device is worn because of a compensable service connected injury.

The new payment, included in Public Law 92-328, approved by the President on June 30, 1972, gave a 10 per cent cost of living increase to nearly 2.2 million veterans with service connected disabilities.

Eligible military retirees must file annually for the clothing allowance, before Aug. 1 after this year. It is not necessary to waive any portion of the retired pay to receive the allowance.

Scholarship contest set by Wayne Savings

Wayne Federal Savings is sponsoring its third annual scholarship award contest for senior students in Western Wayne County, Belleville and Romulus.

Entrants must write an essay on the topic, "What Is the Most Important Problem Facing Our Country Today and What Are Your Suggestions For Solving This Problem?"

Top winner will receive a $1000 prize, second and third place winners will win awards of $500 and $250 respectively. The deadline for competing high schools to turn in essays is Jan. 1. Since each school has its own deadline sometime prior to that date, students are advised to check with their counselors for their school's deadline.

Parade needs entries

The annual Belleville Christmas parade is in "urgent" need of entries, said John Barber, chairman of the Christmas Parade Committee for the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce.

The Christmas Parade marks the official arrival of Santa Claus to the city. It is set for 1 p.m. on Dec. 2.

Barber said the parade is in need of floats, bands, clubs and service organizations representations. He has received few entry applications but a lot more entries are needed if the parade is to be a success, Barber added.

The parade will start at the Belleville Senior High School, 501 W. Columbia Ave. and proceed east to Main Street, then down Main Street to Roys Street, where it will disband.

Persons, groups or organizations wishing to take part in the parade should contact Barber at 697-8025.

We've put the best soft drink there is in our biggest bottle.

People all over the world enjoy Coca-Cola more than 150 million times a day. So when we introduced the 48 oz. bottle of Coke, we called it the Crowd Pleaser — because so many people love Coca-Cola. With our 48 oz. bottle of Coke, you get nine full glasses over ice, a resealable cap you can twist off, then twist back on to keep the flavor sparkling fresh, and the great taste of Coca-Cola.

It's the real thing. Coke.

"Coca-Cola" and "Coke" are registered trade marks which identify the same product of The Coca-Cola Company. Bottled under the authority of The Coca-Cola Company by: Coca Cola Bottling Co. of Wyandotte, Inc.

Santa in Wonderland opens Friday in downtown store

Santa in Wonderland opens on the 12th floor of the Downtown Hudson's Detroit store on Friday. This year's attraction features a replica of Alice's adventures down the rabbit hole, including mechanically moving figures which portray episodes in the classic story, a fantasy restaurant and six rides for children.

The tour of Wonderland begins by meeting the Cheshire Cat who grins high above the path. Through the rabbit hole, the route continues as Alice grows smaller and smaller and everything floats about her. In the dining room, tiny Alice can't reach the key needed to follow the rabbit through a door. Here are found the cookies, marked "eat me," which make her grow larger and larger. The path winds through the valley of frozen tears, past the walrus and Tweedle Dum and Tweedle Dee, to an endless race presided over by a dodo bird. At the end of the route Santa waits in his red and green sleigh to greet each child. He's surrounded by a glittery winter mushroom garden beneath snowy skies. A hall of mirrors leads from Santa to the auditorium. Here, the hum of activity includes a series of vignettes. At one end is Alice bursting through a not-so-small house. Other scenes include the caterpillar who perennially puffs on his pipe, and Alice in the garden, conducting singing flowers. In the midst of this setting is a giant ride for children, The Queen's Garden Maze. Seated in flower carts, riders will travel past the cards painting roses red to please the Queen. A series of scenes ends with Alice playing croquet with the King and Queen of Hearts. Tours of Santa in Wonderland can be scheduled for groups of 25 or more children by calling 223-5100, extension 2712.

Put-on misunderstood

Alan Abel: 'A nude horse is a rude horse'

NEW YORK — Mr. and Mrs. Alan Abel don't raise much cain. They live quietly on Manhattan's West Side. Occasionally, they notify television and newspaper assignment editors about something. It is at this point things begin to stir. You may recall reading or seeing reports in 1964 and 1968 about the Best Party's presidential candidate, Mrs. Yetta Bronstein, whose slogan was: "Put a Mother in the White House." Mrs. Bronstein really was Mrs. Abel.

In 1959, her husband, using his own name, stirred up much coverage of his vigorous campaign to cloth naked animals. He headed the Society for Indecency to Animals and appeared on many television talk shows. Some 10 years later, his campaign still was puttering along. He appeared on "The Merv Griffin Show" and warned the audience: "A nude horse is a rude horse." Griffin knew it was a gag.

But a lot of people still don't, excluding assignment editors here who live in mortal fear of the next move from the Abels.

The reason is that the moves have enough apparent truth to make them seem legitimate, albeit somewhat deft or bizarre.

But Abel considers the naked animal coverup his best work: "I only had to have one little picture of a horse in Bermuda shorts and I could walk into any television show. They practically put me right on the air." What started his life as a dedicated hoaxer? "It's difficult to say," he mused. "I guess the key word is frustration. I originally was a performer and not getting anywhere. I found out that if you were a little eccentric or crazy you could attract attention. The Society gave me a platform of sorts."

The Abels' assorted campaigns occasionally result in unsolicited public donations.

He sends them all back, but says the Internal Revenue Service has checked his books seven times in the last 10 years.

This, he said, "is because they probably think I've been stealing Lord knows how many thousands of dollars in donations. So I've been suing to make them let me examine their books and records.

A federal judge in Los Angeles dismissed the suit as "frivolous," but Abel said he may appeal the judge's ruling.

APPEARING LOCALLY — Brussel Sprout, a pop musical group, is appearing at The Colonial Lounge, 19170 Farmington Rd., Livonia, through Saturday. These are six of the 10-member group whose background includes classical concert, a stint as part of Custer's Last Band and records on major labels.

Good guy in white hat featured at auto show

One of the storied West's original good guy figures will be riding in the Dodge exhibit at the Detroit Auto Show from Thanksgiving Day through its close at 10 p.m. on Sunday.

Clayton Moore, whose clean-cut visage has become synonymous in films and television with the Detroit-sired fictional hero of yesteryear, the Lone Ranger, will greet visitors and sign autographs in the exhibit from 2 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m. the final four days of the 57th annual mass showcase for the Motor City's new models.

Moore has made two feature-length films and more than 100 television episodes as the mystery rider of the Old West. Seemingly as ageless as the character he portrays, Moore has stressed identification with the fabled straight-shooter by limiting acceptance of all other acting assignments to those permitting heavy disguise. His personal appearances are limited to those in full Lone Ranger regalia. The character he portrays was created in Detroit for radio in 1933 and soon claimed audiences in the tens of millions for adventures broadcast thrice-weekly from coast to coast over the old NBD Blue Network.

LONE RANGER personal appearances are limited to those in full Lone Ranger regalia. The character he portrays was created in Detroit for radio in 1933 and soon claimed audiences in the tens of millions for adventures broadcast thrice-weekly from coast to coast over the old NBD Blue Network.

The Western hero's fame spread around the world in books, comic strips, numerous other media and promotional merchandising, until the Lone Ranger became the epitome of morality in fictional accounts of the struggle to bring truth and justice to America's frontier.

Today, the nostalgia fad and its re-discovery of radio's pre-televisual programming has prompted renewed interest in the Lone Ranger. Recordings of the old programs are now being played in hundreds of cities across the country.

The association between Dodge dealers and the Lone Ranger is on a national basis and will be featured in dealer advertising and sales promotion.

Thurber Carnival slated at GC West

The Garden City West High School production of the James Thurber play, "A Thurber Carnival," will be held at 8 p.m. Dec. 7 and 9 at the E. J. O'Leary Performing Arts Auditorium. The production, directed by

Ms. Sandra J. Hale, "provides a unique evening of Thurber performed by nine versatile actors who rely on the wit of the famous author and the imagination of the audience," according to a release from West High.

Chosen to perform in the production were students Timothy Michael Murphy, Sara Martin, Don Matthews, Linda Bienkowski, Alex Andrasi, Cindy VanBynen, Monte Rich, Maureen Murphy, Howard McHale and Terry Crouson. Student directors of the production are Gail Barski and Sue Matthews.

Noted artist, teacher to appear at Eastern

The Michigan Council for the Arts and Eastern Michigan University will sponsor an appearance of Dana Atchley, artist and teacher, at 7 p.m. Monday in Sill Lecture Hall 2.

The program will be an informal multi-media presentation of his own and other North American artists' work.

In 1969 the young artist formed the sPACco (Space Ace Company) and aided by a grant from the Canada Council, he toured North America and conducted workshops in 15 colleges.

His appearance at Eastern will be similar to those given in other areas. The format of the show consists of twin-screen slide projection with video overlays and narration. In addition to his 7 p.m. talk, Atchley will be available during the day to work with local artists and anyone who wishes to discuss the technical and conceptual aspects of his program. There is no charge for the program which is open to the public.

Romulus bandorama is Nov. 29

The Romulus Band Boosters Club will sponsor a "Bandorama," at the Romulus Senior High School at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 29.

The musical program will be under the direction of band director Gideon Pettway. Tickets are 50 cents. The proceeds from the bandorama will be used towards the purchase of new band uniforms.

The club is trying to finance half of the price of the new uniforms. The board of education is financing the balance.

RECEIVE 32ND DEGREE — Three Belleville area residents have received the 32nd Degree in Scottish Rite of Freemasonry. They were among a class of more than 400 Masons residing in various communities of southeastern Michigan. From left are Barney Gifford, Leslie F. Williams and Richard K. Yost. The installation ceremonies were held at the Masonic Temple in Detroit.

Lions Club notes

BY ROLAND WOLFE

The Belleville Area Lions Club held its charter night festivities on Oct. 28. Twenty-five members and their ladies enjoyed food and frolic at Leutheuser's in Saline.

Fifteen members, accompanied by their families and guests, went to Rochester for a tour of the Leader Dog School for the Blind on Nov. 8. This tour is a very remarkable experience to see blind people of all ages learning to trust their new eyes, the leader dog.

The Leader Dog School is a multi-state Lions project. Belleville Lions Board of Directors recently voted a donation of $500 to be presented to the school at the annual leader dog luncheon which will be held in Detroit on Dec. 6.

Local Lions will participate in the Christmas Parade on Dec. 2. At the same time the annual candy cane sale will be initiated. This year's goal is the sale of 3,000 canes, Santas and snowmen. Lion Max Koeppe is chairman of the program.

Proceeds from this campaign will help support many Lions projects—Leader Dog School, Michigan Eye Bank, Welcome Home for the Blind, Penickton Center for the Multiple Handicapped Children and local sight conservation programs such as eye examinations and glasses for needy persons, the annual glaucoma clinic, white canes, braille equipment and public education programs on the care and treatment of the visually handicapped.

The main sale will take place on Dec. 15 and 16 in both the Belleville and Romulus areas.

Three new members were recently inducted into our club. They are: Jim Ackron Sr., Paul Cook and Earl Selle.

Looking into the social future of the club, we find ourselves again entertaining our wives at the annual Christmas party which will be held this year at the Danish Club in Detroit. The afterglow will be held at the home of Lion Hellmuth Weiss.

The Lioness Club held its monthly meeting on Nov. 16 at the home of Lioness Louanna McKelvey.

The program included demonstrations on Christmas gift cooking given by Mrs. Holt, a representative of Michigan Consolidated Gas Co.

Dingmans file for license

An application for a special designated merchant (SDM) license by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission (MLCC) has been filed by Stuart and Virginia Dingman of Van Buren Township.

The license, which is for the sale of beer and wine for consumption off premises only, is slated for 39431 Huron River Dr.

The Van Buren Township Board has been submitted a notification of the application by the MLCC.

The commission filed no objections to the license approval.

Fire destroys Lodge kitchen

A fire that destroyed the kitchen facilities at the Lodge Lanes Snack Bar, 46255 Willow Run Expressway, just west of Belleville Road, is being investigated by the Van Buren Township Fire Department. The fire, which broke out at 10 a.m., Friday, was confined to the kitchen area. Smoke from the fire closed the day's operation of bowling lanes of Lodge Lounge & Lanes, located in the same building. Township firemen fought the blaze for about an hour.

Area man is freshman

Charles P. Rassel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence F. Rassel, 44344 Hull Rd., Belleville, has been accepted as a freshman student at Palmer College of Chiropractic at Davenport, Iowa.

He will take a four and one-third academic year course of study leading to the degree of Doctor of Chiropractic.

Belleville

Symphony band to set premiere

By TOM KETCHUM

The Belleville High School Symphony Band will present the "world premiere performance" of "Introduction and rondo capriccioso" on Dec. 9. Leon Brooks, a senior at the University of Michigan's School of Music arranged for solo violin and orchestra by Camille Saint-Saens for clarinet, flute, and band.

Brooks and Mrs. Webster, also a senior at the U-M, will play the clarinet and flute solos. Spring already? No, not quite. But the student council is planning the Bahamas trip for spring vacation. This trip is not an activity of the school or school district, but is offered to those students who want to go.

Meanwhile, the senior class is making plans for the senior trip to London, England.

Members of the mass communications classes and six members of the Tiger Print staff visited the Detroit Free Press on a field trip last Friday. They were able to see all the aspects of a major metropolitan newspaper, such as the newsroom, U.P.I. and A.P. news teletypes and the presses. It was time well spent in the "big city."

For all you Barb Repella fans, I've got some bad news. Barb is going away for Thanksgiving and will be unable to write next week's stories of BHS, so I'll be filling in for her. For all of my fans, I've got some good news. Barb is going away.....(Don't worry, Barb will be back for the Dec. 13 paper).

Huron

Fall sports banquet set

By SUE MAIANI

The annual sports banquet will be held next Wednesday at the St. John's Lutheran Church in Waltz. Varsity football, cross country, golf and cheerleaders will be guests. All other tickets can be purchased for $4.

Huron's senior class is very busy this year in the hope of raising money. They are in the process of selling the traditional class keys as well as planning candy sales and a Thanksgiving Dance which will be held from 8 to 11 tonight in the high school gym.

Student council recently has been facing many changes. There are new officers running this year's council due to the fact that the president resigned just a few days ago.

The new officers are in the process of reorganizing the whole council and are on their way with many fund raising projects. They will hold assemblies every month, and plan different types of sales. They plan to involve students in the council this year.

The French Club is trying a New way to raise money by having a record hop Dec. 8. They also plan to have bakes sales and are in the process of conducting a sucker sale.

Under the direction of Miss Jean Carlburgh the club's goal is to visit France this summer.

Romulus

Class sponsors demonstrations

By SUE MORRIS

For all those interested in the art of self-defense, the senior class is sponsoring a Martial Arts Demonstration on Nov. 28, at 7 p.m. in the high school gym. Karate and judo will be featured. Admission is free and the public is welcome.

Any adult who wants to purchase a season basketball ticket may do so by contacting Mr. Baum of the Athletic Department. The ticket is $8.50 and will be honored at all home basketball games. Season ticket holders also will have first priority when tournament tickets are sold.

Speaking of basketball, fans were given a sneak preview of this year's teams Friday, when the annual Meet the Team Night was held.

After an introduction of the players, a maroon and white game followed with the varsity team split in half to make up the two opposing squads.

As an added attraction the Romulus coaches and their Belleville counterparts played a hard-fought game which saw Belleville emerge victorious, 78-74.

Transcendental Meditation, or TM as it is commonly known, is sweeping the country. The method, as taught by the Maharishi Mahesh Yogi, is designed to develop creative intelligence and provide deep rest for increased energy.

A lecture, sponsored by the Students International Meditation Society (SIMS), outlining TM and the role it plays in an individual's life, was given at the high school on Monday.

National Honor Society members are busy raising money for their scholarship fund. A 20 lb. dressed turkey was raffled off today just in time for Thanksgiving. All proceeds from the raffle went to their fund. NHS also is responsible for selling those bagels every two weeks.

The French Club also is into the fund-raising act. Members are selling candy and Christmas cards with all profits being set aside for their trip to Quebec. A doughnut sale was held this morning with that goal in mind.

Mayor speaks to class

Mayor Royce E. Smith of Belleville recently spoke at a government class session taught by Ernil Jones at Belleville Senior High School. The mayor briefly reviewed the history of the City of Belleville, the structure of its government, and answered questions.

The mayor talked about the city's urban renewal project, the mayor's role in delaying the construction of the proposed new multi-million dollar sports stadium in Detroit, the proposed shopping center near South Junior High School in Belleville and the projected paving of the remainder of Belleville's unpaved streets.

Jones' classes are studying local government in Michigan.

Parents join Beverly PTA

The theme of the Beverly Parent-Teacher Association (PTA) membership drive at the Beverly Elementary School this year is "Get Involved. Join the PTA." It seems that quite a number of people are doing just that.

Currently, the organization has 145 new members, doubling last year's membership.

Three Beverly classrooms were cited for having 100 per cent sign-up of parents in the PTA. They are Mrs. Matison's first grade; Mrs. Washington's fourth grade and Mr. Parr's fifth grade.

Band seniors are honored

that he learns that music means work, not just practice.

The Van Buren Public School District is honoring the senior members of the Belleville High School Marching Band this week.

The high school band, consisting of 80 members including 26 seniors, is one of the area's leading marching bands. Its most recent performance was at the Belleville-Ypsilanti High football game Friday.

Special ceremonies honoring the seniors will be held at the Annual Fall Recognition Night Honor Awards banquet tonight.

Most of the bandmen at Belleville Senior High School started their musical careers at the age of 10. Sometime during the fourth grade, they were introduced to the basic wind instruments (such as the clarinet, sax, flute, trumpet and trombone).

After they decided what they wanted to play, their parents rented an instrument and gritted their teeth through all the squawks and mistakes. Finally came the time to make the big decision: whether to continue and buy an instrument or give up.

The second step came in junior high school where each of the bandmen play in the concert band and wear a uniform with pants twice their size. The tuba players in the class used to tease the conductor by hiding their instruments in the pants.

Then in the tenth grade comes band camp, a real thrill for all bandmen. This gives the new high school bandmen a taste of a smooth-running organization. Suddenly he has a real responsibility to himself and to his peers.

The bandmen are more comfortable and more organized during his second year with the band. It is here

The band staff tries its best to balance out the work with social activities. From this time up to graduation, the bandsman tends to work his schedule around music. The band becomes a second family. The concerts run smoother.

Some of the social events include the University of Michigan Band Day in which the high school participates every year. Then there are the several supervised parties sponsored by the band director and his wife. By far the greatest activity was the band's trip to Cedar Point, according to members.

The senior members of the band are: Dan McClure, flute; Sue Scothorn, flute; Janet Phelps, flute; Rayleen Haydon, flute; Gayle Thompson, flute and rank leader; Tammy Pardon, flute. Paula Memering, clarinet and rank leader; Laura Squires, clarinet; Cathy Petrasky, clarinet, section and rank leader; Jon Aimone, clarinet; Cheryl Thompson, alto saxophone and head librarian, and Mark Fogg, alto saxophone and section leader.

Other senior band members are: Doug Hampton, alto saxophone, senior class representative and rank leader; Lee Wolfgang, baritone and bass drum; Paul White, percussion, section and rank leader; Dennis Griess, percussion; Steve Salisbury, tuba, section and rank leader.

Tom Ketchum, baritone and equipment manager; Dennis Lochrie, trombone, rank leader and president of the band; Prince Eubanks, trombone, rank leader, assistant drum major and vice-president of the band; Jeff Aimone, trumpet; Dale Nugent, trumpet; Dave Grant, trumpet, rank and section leader; Rick Parker, trumpet, and Keith Hubbs, trumpet, rank leader and business manager.

MARVIN WILLIAMS

DAVE HOLLANDSWORTH

Three backs repeat as 'All-Area'

When you have four backs who can turn every play into a touchdown, what else is there to say? A lot!

You've heard their names over and over during the 1972 high school football campaign: Steve Orr, Dennis Burton, Mike Dansard and Steve Jacunski — four players who between them piled up more than 4,000 yards, and you'll be hearing about them again on the collegiate scene no doubt.

Add to that foursome an offensive line composed of ends Paul Haydon (Garden City East) and Craig Barczuk (Wayne Memorial); tackles Marvin Williams (Romulus) and Dave Hollandsworth (Livonia Franklin); guards Willie Smith (Robichaud) and Daryl Gooden (Romulus) and center Greg Vermillion (GC East) and you'll have one of the finest All-Area teams ever assembled.

Orr, Burton and Dansard — each with 1,000 yards plus — for their efforts are holdovers from last year's team.

Orr, a 17-year old, 5-foot-7, 145-pound senior quarterback who engineered East's unprecedented 9-0 season and helped the team win the Northwest Suburban Conference title, accounted for 15 touchdowns and rushed the ball 94 times for a total of 468 yards.

Steve also connected on 63 of his 129 passes for a total of 1034 yards.

"He's a tough kid and the best quarterback to ever come out of East High," said Coach Gary Humphrey. "He's definitely college material and you'll hear his name a lot in the future."

Orr also is a top-notch basebal player, having made All-Area in that sport.

Burton has been sensational in the Panther backfield the past two seasons. The 18-year-old, 5-foot-11, 165-pound senior had elusive moves and plenty of speed which propelled him to 13 touchdowns and 1129 yards for his 154 carries.

"Our opposition knew they had to stop Dennis to beat us," said the Panther coach, "so they keyed on him but he still managed to come through."

Orr and Burton are good bets to become the first backs to make All-State (Class A) from East High. Both were unanimous Northwest Suburban Conference picks.

Dansard, the "iron man" of Belleville started the season by carrying the ball 39 times in his first game. That was necessitated when the Tiger starting quarterback was injured and the backup signalcaller, also on the injury list, was forced into the game and chose to call on Dansard.

The rugged 18-year-old senior had a total of 1261 yards for 202 carries this season. He scored 15 touchdowns and made three two point conversions. Mike also was used as a defensive halfback and managed to steal a pass and run it back 30 yards for a touchdown.

The Belleville athlete was named to both the offensive and defensive teams in the tough Suburban 8 Conference.

Jacunski was the only player in the Tri-River Conference to be picked for all-conference by all eight coaches. Steve scored 12 touchdowns as a running back and also carried Garden City West's title hopes on his shoulders.

"He was our football team," said Coach Bob Draheim. "He also has not missed a football game during the three years he has been competing on the varsity team."

Jacunski also averaged eight tackles per game and picked off three passes and covered four fumbles. He has returned a punt for a touchdown and caught two touchdown passes.

Haydon, a 16-year-old, 6-foot-4, 190-pound senior end completed his second year on the Panther varsity. His sure hands got the champs out of more than one jam.

A Northwest Suburban Conference pick who went both ways, Paul has excellent moves and speed which Orr managed to utilize to keep the offense clicking.

Barczuk, the other end, caught 13 passes for a team that concentrated on running. He played tight end and was an outstanding blocker. The 17-year-old senior co-captain hauled in three touchdown

Rouge loses its No. 1 cage fan

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

There was always a smile on Ray Clift's face when you brought up the subject of basketball, his favorite sport. "Betcha a coffee," he would say, "that Rouge will whip Inkster again this year."

"O.K. you're on," I would reply. Heck I hadn't paid for the last three bets, so what did I have to lose?

RAY G. CLIFT

And what can one say but that we will miss him.

There was never that employer-employee relationship between Mr. Clift (no one ever called him that, it was always "Ray") and myself. How could there be, after all I owed him three coffees.

Ray and his wife, Ruth, were Rouge and Greene's best basketball fans. We don't know when that courtship with the downriver Class B state power began, but it's estimated that the Clifts have attended nearly every Panther game for over two decades.

The Clifts may have missed a few regular season Rouge matches, but they have a perfect record for the state playoffs.

"He was our No. 1 fan," said Coach Greene, "there's no doubt about it. The season isn't going to be the same without him." There are rumors that Lofton will also step down as Rouge's head coach after his team wins the State Class B championship again this year.

How can Rouge be so optimistic?

Well, Rouge won it last year and before Ray passed away he said, "this year's team is even better than last."

It was Mr. Clift who lured me into this job nearly nine years ago. He found out from someone I knew a little bit about basketball and that was enough. He hired me.

During the last two years since his retirement from the newspaper business, Ray would occasionally stop by and talk sports.

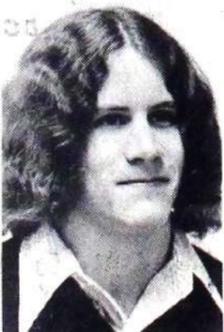

I recently informed him that because of a new formula Inkster and Dearborn Heights Robichaud will be competing in Class B this year, so Rouge better watch its step.

He broke out in that smile again, causing his much-wrinkled face to light up.

Defense can win games

Most coaches accept the adage: "defense wins football games."

But you won't have to emphasize defense with the players that made this year's All-Area Team. They live for defense.

A nucleus of Churchill and Garden City East gridders and dotted with standouts from Garden City West, Wayne Memorial, Robichaud, John Glenn go into the forging of one of the finest defensive units ever assembled.

The defenders include ends Ron Wasczenski (East) and Kevin Arnold (Churchill) tackles Ray Banks (John Glenn) and Lamont Brintley (Churchill). Linebackers Keith Anleitner (East), Paul Black (Churchill), Tim Dybas (West); halfbacks Pat Faber (Wayne Memorial), Tony Dattilio (Franklin), Tim Arner (East) and Phil Damaska (Churchill).

Wasczenski is the only holdover from last year's squad, climaxing a brilliant football career at East. He has played varsity ball for the past three seasons and was named to last year's Mid-Wyne Conference team and this year's Northwest Suburban Conference squad. (East moved to the Northwest Suburban this year.)

"Ron was always in the right places at the right time," said Coach Gary Humphrey. "Needless to say, the opposition tried to keep the ball away from his side as much as possible."

Arnold, an all-Western Six Conference pick, had 101 defensive points on Coach Ken Kaestner's chart (two points for first hit, one for an assist). A second year letterman, he helped the Chargers to a conference championship and a 9-0 record. Six of those victories were via shutouts. Kevin, who also blocked five kicks, was used sparingly at fullback, scoring three touchdowns.

"Kevin is a great leader who always came up with the big play," said the Charger coach. "He was our top man on defense."

The 6-foot-1, 190-pound senior also can run the 40-yards in 4.8 seconds.

Banks, a 6-foot-4, 215-pound senior who led the team from Westland John Glenn, was a two-way performer at tackle for Coach Bob Lusk's Rockets. He earned a varsity letter as a sophomore, then missed his junior year when he broke his leg.

Named to the all-Northwest Suburban Conference team, Ray had 62 solo tackles and assisted on 24 others in eight games.

At the other tackle Brintley is a 195-pound, 6-foot senior who brought life to Robichaud after a sluggish start. Brintley recovered four fumbles and scored a tackle-eligible touchdown, racing 45 yards into the end zone. He cut down 35 ball carriers and had 67 assists.

"You will hear about Lamont in college," said Coach Bob Yauck. "He's a top-notch college prospect."

In a year that produced a number of All-Area players, Brintley is among the best ever to come out of the area.

He has superlative spirit and is an outstanding leader whose defensive acuity

Humphrey, Kaestner share coaching honors

Two coaches whose football teams captured championships in their respective conferences and whose teams finished the year undefeated and untied share The Daily Eagle and Associated Newspapers' Coach of the Year accolades for 1972.

They are Gary Humphrey, Garden City East High, and Ken Kaestner, Livonia Churchill.

Humphrey, 36, has bowed out of coaching after the Panthers came up with a perfect 9-0 season, the Northwest Suburban Conference championship and a third place in the final ratings of the Associated Press' poll.

No other East High football team had ever accomplished what Gary's Panthers did this season.

"It's been a fantastic season for us," said Humphrey who has been honored as top coach in the area in previous years. "But, when you have the kids that I had then you expect to win. These kids did everything. And, of course, our coaching staff is the best bunch of people one can assemble."

Humphrey, whose teams over a span of seven years have accumulated a 45-12-2 record, announced his retirement from high school football earlier this month. He gave his reasons for resigning, as "so that I can spend more time with my family."

After winning three out of six Mid-Wayne Conference championships, Humphrey's team got a shot at the Northwest Suburban Conference this season. The Panthers joined the league this year.

Dansard keeps All-Area spot

Williams and Gooden are described as "tremendously strong athletes" by Romulus Coach Bill Hardy who guided the Eagles to their first winning season in years (5-3-1).

Williams, also an All-Area wrestler, went both ways for the Eagles, playing middle guard on defense. He has great mobility for his 5-foot-11, 210-pound size and aggressive on the field where his leadership has been the catalyst for the winning year.

"He's tremendously strong and has great explosion," said Hardy, "we will miss him next year."

On defense Marvin counted 98 solo tackles and 46 assists in playing out his third varsity season.

Gooden, who can cover 40 yards in 4.7, "has a nose for football." The 6-foot-1, 213-pound 17-year-old senior can run the 40 yards in 4.7 seconds.

"Without Gooden and Williams I would hate to think what kind of season this would have been for us," Hardy added.

Hollandsworth, Franklin's MVP on offense, takes up the other tackle slot. A 6-foot-1, 233-pound senior who was the Patriots' regular at offensive tackle and defensive end, Dave co-captained the team. He also was picked all-Northwest Suburban.

At the other guard is Smith, an All-State candidate from Robichaud who stands 6-foot-1 and is 210-pounds. A three-year varsity veteran, Smith was the key to Coach Bob Yauck's team. A strong blocker who led the way for the ball-carriers Smith was groomed as the team leader.

As a middle linebacker, Smith counted 105 assists and 55 solo tackles and intercepted one pass which he returned for a touchdown. He also recovered six fumbles and caused an additional four.

Willie has a B average. The Northwest Suburban also contributes the center, Greg Vermillion, who has two years varsity seniority at East High. The 5-foot-9, 170-pound senior is credited with opening up the way for Orr and Burton and opposing linebackers have felt his sting many a time.

East had a perfect 5-0 record in their new conference.

"I know I will miss coaching and the kids," added Humphrey, "but I've made my decision and will stick to it."

Kaestner, also 36, is making his debut in the elite All-Area circles. His team, which won the Western Six Conference title, the first in the Livonia high school's history, racked up nine victories, six by shutouts. Of the 20 points opponents had scored on the Chargers, none of the touchdowns came on the ground.

"Being selected as one of the top coaches in the area is a big thrill not only for myself but for the kids because I feel they share in this. I was surprised to be chosen coach of the year and I appreciate the honor," Kaestner said.

Kaestner pointed out that "this was a great team to coach, not only because it went undefeated but also because they were great kids who had a concern for one another."

"They worked hard and played together and they really wanted to win. We had good communication between the coaches and the players and we were able to work together for our league title and nine wins."

Kaestner, a native of Pontiac who grew up in Indianapolis where he played center and was football captain at Broad Ripple High, teaches American History at Churchill.

He earned his degree in education, majoring in physical education at Michigan State University. He coached in the Avondale School District for two years, then moved to Whittier Junior High in Livonia where he spent five more years.

Kaestner was an assistant coach to Ron Holland at North Farmington for two years, moving to Brighton High as head coach in 1967, then accepting his present position at Churchill in 1968.

"One of the reasons why our defense was superb," said Kaestner, "was because of the efforts of Roger Frayer, the defensive coordinator."

Kaestner and his wife, Marilyn, have three daughters — Susan (11), Jane (10) and Julie (4). They make their home in Northville.

Football's 'Mr. X' removes mask

The area high school football season has run its course and "Mr. X" of the Daily Eagle and Associated Newspapers' football panel is ready to step forward and identify himself.

The panel of football experts has done its predicting for the fall, so it can now be revealed that the role of "Mr. X" was played by Bernie Ingle, the Athletic Director of Robichaud High School.

Bernie correctly predicted the outcome of 90 of the 124 high school, collegiate, and professional games that were on the list this season. But he and the other nine panel members had to take a back seat to sports editor Tom Mooradian, who successfully defended his title.

Mooradian predicted the outcome of 98 of the contests and was incorrect in his assessment of 24 games. Two games ended in ties.

Right behind Tom and his 98-2-2 mark came advertising account director Bert Osterberg and reporter Mike Arnholt, both of whom sported 96-26-2 records.

Editor Basil Stevens finished fourth at 95-27-2 closely followed by reporter Garry Gilbert at 94-28-2.

News editor Barbara Blass demonstrated the power of the distaff side as she placed sixth at 93-29-2.

Enterprise-Roman editor Henry Cantin and sports writer Jim Freer tied for seventh place with 91-31-2.

BERNIE INGLE
He's Mr. X

Bernie Ingle, a.k.a. 'Mr. X', placed ninth at 90-32-2.

General manager Bill Holliday edged out reporter Jim Carravallah for tenth place.

Holliday finished with an 87-35-2 record while Carravallah wound up with an 86-36-2 mark.

The panel members are now set for the 1972-73 basketball poll.

Tom is also the defending basketball champion and he and his co-selectors get started this week.

All-Area defense

They put on the stops

Rival coaches used a flow of superlatives to describe Keith's ability. He was one of the top choices for all-conference as well.

Black also is a second year letterman who was the leading tackler on Churchill's first undefeated team. In on more than 100 tackles with 174 hitters' points, Black called the defensive signals for the Chargers and was also a unanimous all-Western Six Conference choice. player who was great all year," said Kaestner. "He's fast and he's a strong player for his size."

Black is 5-foot-10, 170-pound senior who co-captained the Chargers.

Dybas was the strongside linebacker for Coach Bob Draheim's Tigers. He averaged about seven tackles per game for West and also covered four fumbles on the season and one interception.

"He has been one of our most consistent players who goes all out in every game," said Draheim. "He's fast has the agility and the makings of being a fine college player."

Faber, who is 17 years old and stands 5 feet 9, 160-pounds, co-captained the Zebras this year. A senior, Pat also was named to the all-Mid-Wayne Conference team as he accounted for 39 solo tackles and seven interceptions.

"Pat is an outstanding player who was the key to our defense," said Floyd Carter, Wayne High coach. "A hard worker, he gave all and made a lot of touchdown-saving plays. Faber also rips off 40 yards in 4.8 speed.

Dattilio, at 5 foot, 6 inches and 142-pounds, is the smallest member of the All-Area team, but among the hardest hitters. A senior with two varsity years of experience, Franklin's players voted the diminutive grinder their most valuable player on defense.

Tony played cornerback, but also filled in quite a bit as a running back. He played flanker for Coach George Lovich's Patriots. He scored 39 points including three TDs and two field goals, as well as intercepting five passes.

Lovich described Dattilio as "an outstanding, versatile player who worked as hard as any player I've coached and was a top clutch performer." His team's top defensive back in a 3-0 victory over Thurston, Tony kicked the 26-yard field goal and intercepted a pass to seal the victory.

Arner has "that nose for the ball" which every successful defensive halfback must have. A 5-foot-0, 185-pound senior he has two years of varsity experience behind him and a bright college future ahead of him.

Tim was rated as one of the finest safeties by the coaches in the Northwest Suburban Conference.

"He's a great athlete who specialized as a defensive wizard," said Humphrey. Damaska, a senior co-captain with two years' varsity seniority, was an "all-round player for Churchill's unbeaten squad and did the job on offense as well."

He ran for 405 yards and caught passes for a total of 266 yards while scoring seven touchdowns. On defense he played an outside halfback and intercepted three passes. He was an all-leaguer.

Birk heads 1972 All-Area Golf Team

Tim Birk, a 15-year old Belleville High School sophomore, heads the list of players on The Daily Eagle and Associated Newspapers' 1972 All-Area Golf Team.

Paul Reed of Garden City East, Paul Ihlenfeldt of Belleville, Bill Anderson of Garden City West, and Bob Jawor of Cherry Hill are the other four golfers on the All-Area team.

Birk was the medalist at last month's Western Wayne Golf Tournament at Northville's Salem Hills Golf Club. The Tournament was sponsored by The Daily Eagle and Associated Newspapers.

He shot a nine-over-par 81 at the tournament, tying Garden City East's Reed for first place. Birk went on to win the championship on the first hole of a sudden death playoff.

In addition to his Western Wayne triumph Birk was also a member of the Suburban Eight's All-League team.

"Tim was a consistent golfer all season," said Belleville Coach Sam Vicchy. "He's a good competitor who doesn't get flustered when he runs into a bad hole. He has a fine future ahead of him in high school golf."

good all-around game, but I'd have to say that his putting is his strongest point."

The 5-7, 135 pound Birk had a nine-hole average of 41 for the Tigers as they compiled a 3-4-1 dual meet record.

His best round was a 39, which he shot at Knob-on-the-Lake Golf Course in Belleville.

Tim has been playing golf seriously for two years and Vicchy says that "he has a

He also fired an 83 in the regional at the tough Cascade Country Club in Jackson.

Birk's brother Chris, a 17-year old senior, was also a top player for Belleville this fall.

Reed, a 16-year old junior, was the top golfer for Garden City East throughout the season.

Paul had a stroke average of 40.5 as the Tigers wound up with a 4-8-1 dual meet record.

In addition to his fine showing at the Western Wayne Tournament, Paul had a nine-hole total of 36 at Hawthorne Valley Country Club.

The 5-10, 160 pound Reed is also a pitcher and outfielder on the Panther baseball team.

"Paul's a good all-around golfer," said East Coach Ralph Davis. "He has good distance off the tee, but he's best with his short irons. He was our top man this fall and I know that he'll do well again next year."

Reed has been golfing for four years.

Ihlenfeldt, a 6-0, 170 pound senior, was the No. 2 golfer for Belleville during most of the 1972 season.

He tied for third place with an 88 at the Western Wayne Tournament and had a stroke average of 45 during the Tigers' regular season.

Paul, who has been a golfer for five years, shot his lowest score of the fall, a 39, at Knob-on-the-Lake.

Vicchy termed Ihlenfeldt "a strong golfer who gets good distance off the tee. He's also a good iron player."

Anderson tied Ihlenfeldt for third place in the Western Wayne Tourney.

Bill, a 16-year old junior, had a stroke average of 40 as he ranked as Garden City West's top golfer during most of the 1972 season.

The 5-6, 122 pound Anderson had a stroke average of 40. His best nine-hole round was a 36 which he fired at Fellows Creek.

He helped the Tigers compile a 6-8 Tri-River League record and a 10-8 overall mark.

"Bill has a good temperament for the game and he has no real weaknesses," said GC West Coach Dick Kitzman.

"He did a good job this fall and he should be a top man for us again next year."

Anderson, a member of a golfing family, has been playing the game since he was a young boy.

Jawor, a 15-year old sophomore, was Cherry Hill's top golfer during much of the 1972 campaign.

He tied for fourth place with a 90 at the Western Wayne Tourney and had a seasonal stroke average of 42.3.

His best round was a 36, which he shot at Shady Hollow.

He, Bill Cartmill, and Rick Ramzetti were the bright spots for Cherry Hill as it struggled through a 3-12 season.

"Bob did a good job for us this season," said Spartan Coach Jan Stuhlman. "He's a consistent golfer, particularly with his woods."

Four of the five members of the 1972 All-Area team are underclassmen.

The four, Birk, Reed, Anderson, and Jawor, will be strong contenders for the elite squad again in 1973.

Belleville's Vicchy named Coach of Year

Sam Vicchy has been named the Daily Eagle and Associated Newspapers' Golf Coach of the Year for 1972.

SAM VICCHY
Belleville

Vicchy, who has been the Belleville golf coach for the past three seasons, directed his charges to the championship in the Western Wayne Invitational Tournament last month.

The Tigers also finished tied for fourth in the tough Suburban Eight League.

Two of Vicchy's golfers, sophomore Tim Birk and senior Paul Ihlenfeldt, were selected as members of the 1972 All-Area team.

"I'm very happy to be chosen for this honor," said the 33-year old Vicchy. "We had some good golfers on our team and we played well several times, particularly in the Western Wayne. We improved quite a bit this fall and I hope we can continue along these lines."

He then spent five years as a golf, water polo, and swim-became an All-American football player at Notre Dame and now plays defensive tackle for the Green Bay Packers.

In 1967 Vicchy moved to Kent, Ohio, where he did graduate work at Kent State University.

Between 1967 and 1970 he also taught and coached at Kent State University High School.

Sam came to Belleville in 1970 and he has coached the Tiger golf and swimming teams during the past three years.

"I've probably been more ming coach at Cathedral High School in Erie, Pa.

One of Vicchy's water polo players at Cathedral was Mike McCoy, who went on to wrapped up in the swimming team, but I've also enjoyed coaching golf," said Vicchy.

"Things are a little different now that golf has become a fall sport," continued the Belleville coach. "The boys are nearing the end of a season of golfing and there's not much that a coach can do to help them during the months of September and October. But it's enjoyable to provide whatever help I can and watch them develop their skills."

The Tigers, who played their home matches at Knob-on-the-Lake Golf Course this season, had a 3-4-1 overall record in dual matches.

Vicchy will have four golfers returning in 1973 and he's "looking forward to a better season and continued improvement in our program."

Vicchy resides in Belleville with his wife, Susan, and their three daughters — Lori (9), Tami (8), and Debbi (2).

"Berkie, a coffee they can't beat Rouge. In fact I'll give you 10 points," he challenged.

I accepted.

That's one bet I would have loved to paid off.

They just don't make guys like Ray any more.

Though we have been accused of "playing politics" in previous years when we came to selecting the "All-Area" football teams and though we have vehemently denied it, the stigma will always remain because of the nature of people — they are always suspicious.

"Politics" in this case, is picking at least one member of each area team to the honor squad, thereby "appeasing" (oh, such a dirty word) the circulation of that area.

"Do we pick the best players," asked Sports writer Jim Freer, a little tired and disgusted as we worked late last night. "If so, then I've seen these teams play four or five times and East rightfully should have seven players on this year's team. In fact, if you really want to know I feel Jim Wisniewski also deserves to make it."

I listened and nodded my head.

If they deserve to make it, then make it they shall.

There were a lot of questions and answers before we derived our final teams and, for certain, there will be a lot of fans (and coaches) who will disagree. However, the common denominator we feel is that the players selected on these pages are "Blue chippers who are our best."

And they have the statistics, the figures and the credentials to prove it.

So congratulations to our All-Area players and we hope to read (and write) about you when you begin your college football careers.

Oh yes, I forgot to mention: I'm giving Jim and myself a couple of weeks vacation, so if you do have a complaint please wire it to Outer Siberia. That's where I'm off to, anyway.

WOOD ADDS WARMTH — A cool, temporary mood borrows warmth from vertical grain tongue and groove 1-by-4-inch western paneled walls, colorful area rug and wall hangings. Fireplace wall holds nook for books. Pitched, beamed ceiling of nail-laminated western hemlock is soaring contrast to low profile furnishings.

To cool room

Wood can add warmth

For the woman who always wanted an elegant living room with pale, plush carpeting, polished tables and a spot for a treasured Oriental rug, planning makes it possible. Granted, panors are passe. Locking up the living room except for state occasions is unthinkable, but there are passive, as well as active pursuits in any family. "A divide and conquer" policy providing space for both has a happy effect on housekeeping.

Firmly designating the kitchen-family room an activity center for hobbies, games and television frees the living room for quiet communication.

A divider wall also can separate living room from entry area and be placed to serve as a gallery wall on either side. Scrubbable flooring plus a thick welcome mat in the entry gives pale carpeting a chance for survival. A compartmented entry closet will stop clutter before it starts.

For a room that's cool but not austere, and dramatic but not artificial, walls of tongue-and-groove resawn western cedar surround spare, modern furnishings with seasoned warmth and livability.

Staining boards lightly just to blend the cedar tones is effective, as the wood itself has a lively color essence.

Call it the quiet room and lure the family in for peaceful evenings with a generous raised hearth. Polished marble or granite contrasts beautifully with rough-textured woods.

Stitchery and macrame complement conversation in the quiet room, and built-in bookshelves beside the fireplace with plenty of room for everyone's favorites are another magnet.

High, sloping ceilings are an exciting choice for spaciousness in new construction. Even a flat ceiling seems higher with exposed beams pushing it up visually.

Western hemlock or pine are popular ceiling deckings which may be used structurally in place of rafters, with excellent insulating results. Their light, clear tones are most dramatic over heavy dark-stained for contrast.

IMPROVE YOUR HOME

Inexperienced hands can install paneling

Some remodeling jobs are easier said than done. But prefinished hardboard wall paneling can actually be installed by a relatively inexperienced "hand."

The job does require some carpentry tools, some work room and some patience. It's also essential to heed manufacturer's instructions. Basically, though, these are the steps that lead to a spanking new paneled wall:

1. Measure the length and height of the walls (subtracting window and door openings) to determine the number of panels needed. Standard size hardboard panels are 4-by-8-feet.

2. Panels can be installed right on the wall if it's smooth and even. If it's not, put up furring strips first. When paneling over masonry, waterproof the wall before furring.

3. It's wise to condition panels before installation to minimize dimensional changes that might otherwise occur after the panels are up.

All that's involved is standing the panels on edge around the room so that air can circulate freely around them for at least 24 hours. If the room has abnormal moisture conditions, further preparation may be necessary. Check with dealers on this.

4. Always start installation in a corner. Use an accurate level to make sure the first panel — and each succeeding one — is perfectly plumb before it is fastened.

5. For simplified fastening, special adhesives are available. They're waterproof and come in caulking type "guns" for easy, even application to furring strips, wall surfaces and studs.

Follow directions carefully to assure good bonding.

The wall surface must be clean, and panels must be supported firmly in place until the adhesive sets.

If nails are preferred, the color-matched kind eliminates the need for countersinking and putting holes.

6. Hardboard panels should not be butted tightly together. Leave a slight space (about the thickness of a matchbook cover) between. This allows for the natural expansion due to temperature or moisture changes that can occur in any wood product.

7. When paneling around windows and doors or over electrical outlets, be sure to measure exactly and cut panels precisely.

Sometimes window and door frames must be built up a bit to equal the thickness of furring strips before the paneling is applied.

8. For a finished look, install moldings around the windows and doors, in corners, and at baseboard and ceiling.

Vinyl-clad moldings and baseboards which match prefinished panels are available to simplify the job.

Hardboard panels can be cut and worked with ordinary carpentry tools. They saw smoothly and withstand hammer blows and other surface impacts without denting, splitting or splintering.

Prefinished panels, which come in a wide variety of wood-grain designs, colors and patterns, don't need painting or staining.

An occasional damp wiping keeps them looking new for a long time.

By ANDY LANG AP Newsfeatures

The varieties of plywood are almost endless, but none is a synthetic product, as some persons are inclined to think. Webster puts it this way: "A structural material consisting of wood glued or cemented together with the grain of adjacent layers arranged at right angles or at a wide angle."

say that there is a plywood for every possible use.

72-667

Motion by Stewart, supported by Edwards, that Resolution No. 72-667 (Opposition of relocation or alteration of the Blakely Drain) be adopted.

RESOLUTION NO. 72-667

WHEREAS, the City of Trenton has been requested by the Department of Natural Resources to review the proposed relocation of the Blakely Drain, which runs adjacent to their Corporate Limits, and give their opinion relative to public safety and/or possible damage to its citizens, whose real property is located in the Woodside Subdivision No. 2, located in the City of Trenton; and,

WHEREAS, a Public Hearing was held on this matter on October 25, 1972, in and for the City of Trenton, and wherein a representative of the Wayne County Drain Commission was present; and,

WHEREAS, after public hearing and careful review, the Trenton City Council made objection to the relocation, straightening and widening of the Blakely Drain for the following reasons:

1. The proposed redevelopment by Tri-Value Homes, Inc., of the Blakely Drain seriously impairs the effectiveness of the Blakely Drain both as a drain and as a flood plain, by allowing a developer to fill in the former flood plain area on the City of Woodhaven side of the Blakely drain at a higher level than presently exists on the City of Trenton side; and,
2. The plans, as presented to the City of Trenton, do not provide adequate area and gradient in comparison to the existing drain, and Blakely Drain will unjustly damage the property owners located in Trenton Woodside Subdivision No. 2, in that:

(a) The flood plain will be moved closer to the now existing residential property which area has experienced flooding conditions.

(b) The Blakely Drain does not accomplish its primary purpose, of taking care of the run-off waters due to the fact that said Drain has not been maintained and is in dire straights of cleaning and is need of a total overall plan of cleaning through the auspices of the Wayne County Drain Commission. The plan, as presented, is a piecemeal attempt to solve the problem with the emphasis on the vested interest of a private developer and not in the light of total public health and safety.

(c) That public safety is seriously threatened by relocation of the Drain closer to a "Populus Area" which has already experienced flooding conditions, for the sole purpose of adding more homes which will further contribute and compound the flooding problem.

(d) The approval of such a proposed plan destroys the effectiveness of the flood plain which the Department of Natural Resources should not approve.

(e) That the total and overall redevelopment of the Blakely Drain should be undertaken by the Wayne County Drain Commission from the Metropolitan Airport to its end at the City of Gibraltar and improve the total system and not allegedly correct a small portion which would leave the property owners of the City of Trenton in a damaged position.

(f) That the Department of Natural Resources should do everything in its power to withhold the granting of any approval or permit which would increase additional runoff factors in the Blakely Drain until such time as the Wayne County Drain Commission provided and implements a total overall plan which would benefit all the communities and their citizens as contrasted to private interest groups.

(g) The Wayne County Drain Commission has granted a part to Tri-Value Homes, Inc., without notice or hearing to the City of Trenton, and therefore, the City of Trenton requests constitutional safeguards as to notice and an opportunity to be heard in the matter.

WHEREAS, the citizens of the City of Romulus may experience severe hardship and damages should the Blakely Drain be relocated without proper precautions being taken to assure that the flow of water from the City of Romulus to the Detroit River is maintained at minimum in its present state; and,

WHEREAS, any alteration or relocation of the Blakely Drain could have devastating effects upon the City of Romulus, said City should be provided with plans outlining any proposed alterations and/or relocations by the Department of Natural Resources, Wayne County Drain Commission, any developers proposing any alteration and/or relocations, all municipalities proposing any alterations or relocations.

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that the City of Romulus does hereby with earnestly support the objections cited by resolution adopted by the City of Trenton on November 6, 1972.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Department of Natural Resources undertake a comprehensive review of the relocation of the Blakely Drain as a flood plain or flood way which if granted, would produce a harmful effect to the City of Romulus, City of Trenton, or municipalities which would be affected by the proposed relocation or alteration of said Drain and its citizens; and,

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that a copy of this resolution be sent to the Department of Natural Resources, the Governor of the State of Michigan, State Senator and Representative, Wayne County Drain Commission, The City of Woodhaven, and all other communities whose boundaries touch the Blakely Drain. Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Edwards, Bizek, Stewart, Raspberry. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

11. Mayor Carmichael reported as follows: Requested that Council transfer funds from Contingency to that of the Dog Pound to fill vacancy presently open as a result of EEA Employee resignation. It was the consensus of Council to transfer an EEA Employee from the D.P.W. to fill said vacancy.

Presented City Council with listing of those vehicles felt in a condition for replacement. It was the consensus of Council to table the matter until a discussion of the aforementioned could be held.

Motion by Stewart, supported by Edwards, that the Mayors Report be accepted as presented. Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Bizek, Stewart, Edwards, Raspberry. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

12. Chairman Raspberry reported as follows: Directed Mayor to forward communication to the Building Department requesting comprehensive listing of any-and-all structures felt to be hazardous to the safety of the citizens of Romulus. Further, that Legal Counsel draft procedures for the aforementioned.

Requested report from the Mayor with respect to the hiring of a City Planner.

Directed that the Mayor forward communication to the City Engineer and D.P.W. requesting comprehensive survey of all gravel roads within the City and required maintenance for same.

Directed that the Mayor request of each Department Head, a monthly written report forwarded to Council and that they appear at least monthly before Council.

Recommended that a communication be forwarded to the D.P.W. and City Engineer as to feasibility of contractual services for ditch maintenance.

Motion by Bizek, supported by Stewart, that the Chairmans Report be accepted as presented. Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Bizek, Steart, Edwards, Nays - None. Abstain - Raspberry. Motion carried.

72-668

13. Motion by Bizek, supported by Stewart, that Warrant No. 90 (Vouchers 2006 through 2077 inclusive) be approved with the following deletions:

VOUCHER NO.	PAYEE	DESCRIPTION	AMOUNT

County may apply for lottery license

A county commissioner has proposed that Wayne County apply for a license to sell state lottery tickets as an additional source of revenue.

The proposal by Commissioner George F. Killeen, Democrat from Detroit's east side, was referred by the board of commissioners to its general government committee for study and a recommendation.

Sellers make 2½ cents on each 50-cent lottery ticket sold. He proposed that licenses be sought to permit the county to sell lottery tickets at Detroit Metropolitan Airport which is operated by the county road commission, and at all concessions in county-owned and operated buildings.

Romulus collects campaign signs

The recent clean-up campaign of displayed political signs in Romulus have resulted in the collection of "about 500" signs, according to Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael.

The mayor ordered the clean-up campaign to remove the signs and posters from telephone poles, trees and traffic signs throughout the city in his "continued beautification program" for the community.

The political signs were removed by a Department of Public Works (DPW) crew during the past week. The mayor said that he hoped future office seekers would use private property for the display of the political posters. "The carelessness of the politicians in posting and not removing their election campaign signs after elections creates an expense to the city," the mayor said.

He also said invoices will be forwarded to those candidates appearing on the campaign posters in an effort to defray cost of removing the signs.

Pageant not just beauty contest

The Junior Miss Pageant is not a beauty contest. Judging standards are high, and at all levels - local, state and national - are based on scholastic ability, poise and appearance, youth fitness, creative and performing arts, awareness, perception, ability in human relations and contributions to family and community.

Each Junior Miss completes half of the four areas of judging by pageant time. All Saturday afternoon the girls meet with the judges in conferences.

During the interviews the judges ask questions to determine the contestants knowledge and perception, mental alertness, personality, values and clarity of expression.

The interview counts 35 per cent in the total judging. Scholastic achievement counts 15 per cent.

The remaining areas are judged during the evening pageant. After the performing arts (20 per cent) portion of the program the girls appear in evening gowns for the poise and appearance judging. Appearance and poise judging only counts 15 per cent in the total judging. Youth fitness counts 15 per cent.

Since 1958 America's Junior Miss Pageant has selected the outstanding high school senior girl from among thousands who take part in more than 1,400 communities in all 50 states.

Local Junior Miss winners advance to regional and state pageants which determine the 50 candidates for the national crown.

Water department may absorb hike

The Van Buren Township Water and Sewer Commission recommended to the township board that the increased water rates from the Detroit Water Department be absorbed by the township's water department.

Township Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer said the recommendation is under study and a report on the commission will be presented to the township board.

The supervisor said the recommendation would likely be approved as the township's increase in water customers would enable the township to absorb the water rate increase.

Trustees defer review of plans

The Van Buren Township Board of Trustees, deferred a review of the plans for the proposed new Holiday Inn until Tuesday. Township Building Inspector Darryl Robson reviewed the plans for the board.

Representatives of the Sucher-Schaefer Investment Co. of Ferndale, developers of the proposed $3.5 million Holiday Inn, submitted plans to the township's building department.

Construction of the proposed multi-million dollar motel complex would start after the proposed relocation of the I-94 Expressway. The new Holiday Inn is slated for the northwest quadrant of Belleville Road and the I-94 Expressway.
